GERMANS IN POSSESSION OF ANTWERP

KING OF ROUMANIA DIED THIS MORNING

Was Seventy-Five Years Old and Nation's First Crowned Head

WORE IRON CROWN MADE FROM CAPTURED CANNON

Won Much Renown in Early Years; Was Hohenzollern
by Birth

Amsterdam, Oct. 10.—via London.—
A telegram received here from Rome says that King Charles of Roumania died this morning.

Charles I. was Roumania's first king. The story of his career spanning 75 years, is that of a German prince elected to govern a Latin people, out of which experience Roumanians or those who have followed the fortunes of that buffer state will recall much that is stirring if not romantic.

Prince Charles was born a Hohenzollern, an older branch of the family than that of Emperor William of Germany. He was the son of Prince Charles Anthony of Hohenzollern-Sig-maringen, who voluntarily resigned the Hohenzollern regentship in favor of the Prussian crown and subsequently became prime minister of Prussia.

It was while Charles was serving, at the age of 27 years, as an officer of high rank in the Prussian guard, that the Turkish provinces of Wallachia and Moldavia united to call themselves Roumania and, casting their eyes about Europe for a foreign prince to govern them—since no native prince had been successful took the advice of Napoleon III. and invited young Charles to be their prince.

With Austria at that time preparing to fight Prussia, young Charles' departure for Roumania was such a perpetual undertaking that he made it secretly. He disguised himself as a Russian merchant bound for Odessa and sailed down the Danube, jumping ashore on Roumanian territory on May 29, 1888, and made his way to the palance at Bucharest where he was proclaimed prince three days later.

Polen III had told him that nothing was more difficult than to govern a Latin race. The young prince soon found that he had been well advised in this respect. He was homesick and beset with innumerable difficulties, growing out of the fact that the country was struggling with a new constitution that gave the people an unaccustomed liberty, and that he made no secret of his purpose to plant among them the "civilization" of Germany, though he sincerely desired to become the best Roumanian of them all. His great confidence in the virtue of Hohenzollern blood brought him energy and patience which later won the hearts of his people.

In the meantime, at the age of 39,
the young prince paid court to Princess Elizabeth of Wied, with whom he fell in love at first sight when he met her in Cologne, and the marriage was celebrated on the banks of the Rhine in the fall of 1889. The queen has since become beloved among her people for her devotion to good works and famous throughout the world as a poet, with the pseudonym of "Carmen Sylva."

A boy was born to the couple, but died at the age of six and they had no further children. In 1876 when there arose the question of participating in the Russo-Turkish war, Prince Charles stood firm for neutrality, but when the Russians were on the point of being crushed at Plevna and Grand Duke Nicholas sent his famous call for help, the Roumanian forces were led to battle and with Charles at their head decisively defeated the great Turkish army.

The renown of Prince Charles spread, and four years later, out of a cannon
he had captured at Plevna the Roumanian people made him an iron crown. With consent of the powers they placed it on his head in 1881.
From this time on King Charles was universally acknowledged the leader of his adopted people and the kingdom of Roumania became a factor in international politics. She held aloof from the common Balkan war against the Turks, but was stirred in her own behalf by Bulgarian greed for territory, and after the wars King Charles pressed his country's claim for 2,600 miles of territory as compensation for the neutrality Roumania had preserved, and started an invasion of Bulgaria. The Russians soon sued for peace and hand-

ROUMANIA'S KING WHO DIED TO-DAY

VIENNESE SHAKEN BY RUSSIANS' VICTORIES

Conditions Deplorable at Vienna Where Idle Men Ask for Employment

London, Oct. 10.—A Basel, Switzerland dispatch to the Standard says:
"The constant check of the Austrian army and the ceaseless rolling of the tide of Russians culminating in the capitulation of Lemberg, one of Austria's most precious jewels, has shaken the very hearts of the Viennese.

"Thousands of educated men, who from age or unfitness are not in the fighting line, have joined the army of workless. Men in every walk of life are idly parading the streets of the mourning capital, interchanging sorrowful impressions, their nerves shattered by the inexorable fate awaiting them. Among them are prophets foretelling the future of Austria, and mischief-makers spreading the news of mythical Austro-Hungarian defeats and exaggerations of Austrian victories.
Then these people return to their melancholy hearth, exhausted, tortured and obsessed with the one idea of compulsory idleness.

"This enervating moral impression of the multitudes of Vienna is thus deplored by the celebrated writer, Gross-man:

"Work, give us work. Unemployment will drive us mad—give us hard labor, eighteen hours per day, after which we can fall off to sleep."

"But work there is none, neither for the men of the mental professions nor for the most ordinary laborer. Most of the factories and warehouses have been closed. The building of public edifices and private houses have been suspended, and the vast majority of those who have not joined the army are left without occupation and consequently reduced to distressing financial straits. This unemployment, which is occasioned very largely by the cessation of importation of raw products from foreign countries, has been followed by an unconscious increase in the cost of the prime necessities of life.

"We are inevitably approaching a great calamity of general famine," said the owner of a large mill at a recent meeting of a Viennese charitable institution who has received an order from the army for a supply of 2,000 wagons of bread cakes. 'A loaf of bread will soon be sold in Vienna for five crowns,' he added."

ed over the coveted strip, extending about 100 miles inland.
"By ourselves alone" are the words which ornament the iron crown King Charles has worn. He was never a party to international alliances, although groups represented in both the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente have been said to be courting Roumanian support.

MATERIAL PROGRESS TO NORTH OF OISE

Allied Armies' Battlefront Has Been Maintained Throughout Its Length

STEADY SIEGE HOLDS IN WOEVRE DISTRICT

Troops in France Are Covering Territory 350 Miles in Length

Paris, Oct. 10.—The following official announcement was given out in Paris
this afternoon: "The fighting continues under satisfactory conditions. Our entire battle-front has been maintained in spite of violent attacks of the enemy at several points.

"On our left wing in the region included between La Bassée, Arras, Lens and Cassel, there has been fighting between the opposing forces of cavalry.
It has been confused because of the nature of the terrain.

"To the north of the Oise our troops have attained great advantages at several places in their zone of action. In the region of St. Mihiel we have made material progress.

"As to Belgium, it is announced that Antwerp was taken yesterday. The conditions under which this place was occupied by the enemy are, however, not yet known.

"In Russia very spirited fighting continues on the section of East Prussia, where Russians have had partial successes. They have occupied the town of Lyck, East Prussia.

"The siege of Przemysl continues under conditions favorable for Russia, who have taken by assault one of the forts of the main line of defence."
In contrast to the repidity with which the Germans have conducted their campaign against Antwerp, the tide of battle is flowing slowly in certain parts of France. The engagements in the Woevre district, according to the statements of the wounded soldiers brought back from this territory, continue to take the form of a slow and steady siege.

The German trenches in the Woevre have been constructed in two lines, one behind the other. The outermost is furnished with quick-firing guns, with outposts constantly on guard. The larger detachments shelter themselves in the second line. These trenches are large and comparatively comfortable, and at intervals they broaden out into subterranean rest rooms, in which the troops may sleep in comparative security. The first line is reached from the second through underground passages.

The allies have just installed a system of drainage in their trenches which up to the present time has been successful.

Drainage is a most necessary precaution as many of the troops are suffering from inflammatory rheumatism.
The battle line in France is now so long, forming as it does a rough curve of 350 miles from Lorraine to the Belgian frontier, that the battle of the Aisne and the operations before Antwerp have become so closely knitted as to be, from the military point of view, inseparable.

The hope of the allies to deliver a crushing blow against the German army in France before the occupation of Antwerp by the enemy is now, of course, a thing of the past. The German right wing under General von Kluck apparently is still intact, and the official communication given out in Paris last night, recorded no change in the situation, merely emphasizing that there was sharp fighting in the region of Boye, nearly 100 miles south of the northern extremity of the fighting line, where opposing bodies of cavalry were clashing almost within sight of the North Sea.

PORTUGAL TO DECLARE WAR AGAINST GERMANY

London, Oct. 10.—In a dispatch from that the Bureau Weizsacker, a semi-official news agency, asserts that a declaration of war on Germany by Portugal is expected in Berlin at any moment.

GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS OF RUSSIA Who Commands Army of Czar

Russians Make Night Attacks Along Entire German Front

At the front, at Wirballen, Russian Poland, Oct. 7.—via The Hague and London, Oct. 10, 7 a. m.—The Russians have finally decided to take the offensive. The German's heretofore have often complained that the enemy, though twice as strong numerically, refused to leave their trenches, but for the last three nights, the Russians have attacked along the entire front, extending sixty miles, from about Wilkowszki, north of Augustowa, to a point below Lyck, East Prussia. The attacks were repulsed, however, the Russians losing heavily while the German losses were light.

No wounded were seen from Staitupon, East Prussia, to the firing line, which your correspondent reached in the afternoon (date not given.) The Russians had just begun an attack on the German left wing, but it was quickly repulsed, the firing lasting about 30 minutes.

The Russian artillery, which evidently has been reinforced by heavy artillery from Kovno, at times shot well, but often their shells fell short of the position of the German artillery.

Great damage has been done everywhere in the country in which the fighting has been raging, and several villages have been burned.

London, Oct. 10.—Reports that the Austrian city of Przemysl is on fire lack confirmation.

Petrograd, Oct. 10.—In Moscow it is reported that the public spirit of the ancient capital was never so strongly manifested as now. In almost every street there are temporary hospitals and convalescent homes for wounded.
Red Cross flags and badges dominated the life of the city. The generosity and devotion of private individuals is unlimited. The city has accommodation for 30,000 wounded, while the military hospitals provide for 12,000 more.
Shortly the town will be ready for another 15,000 beds.

CITY SURRENDERED UNDER HEAVY FIRE OF ENEMY'S GUNS

Furious Assaults Early in Day Caused Belgian Authorities to Fly the White Flag
Over Cathedral at 9 o'Clock.

Germany Now Proposes to Aim Direct Blow
at Great Britain by Making An Airship Assault on Channel Ports.

The Hague, Oct. 10, via London, 10.10 a.m.—Antwerp surrendered to the Germans at 2.30 p.m. Friday, October 9. The war flag was removed from the cathedral and a white flag raised in its place at 9 a.m. The actual surrender took place five and one-half hours later.

The Germans delivered one of their last furious attacks between 6 and 7 o'clock Friday morning. The Belgians resisted them valiantly in their trenches and the desperate fighting resulted in very heavy losses on both sides.

During all Thursday night Zeppelin airships directed the firing of the German heavy artillery, the results of which were appalling.

The German artillery forced its way across the river Nethe, in which many of the artillerymen were drowned. The fighting has been indescribably sanguinary.

The Belgians succeeded in blowing up two and possibly more of their enemy's batteries and heavy artillery.

It is declared here that the cathedral of Notre Dame has not been damaged.

Germany's Objective is Channel Ports.

London, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Express in Paris telegraphs the following: "The immediate objective of the German army is now no longer Paris but the channel ports. To sum up the German plan, the first blow on Paris having failed, the second blow must be aimed at Great Britain.

"The new line-up of the opposing forces means that Northern France is destined to suffer a desolation similar to that already visited on Belgium. All of France's rich cities in the north have been marked for certain destruction and ruin.

Large Reinforcements Must Be Sent.

"The French general staff is confident of success, but it is recognized that there can be no decisive victory while the masses engaged are so enormous. It is possible to hope for the defeat of the enemy's plan only if there can be a constant stream of reinforcements."

The siege of Antwerp, which culminated in its fall October 8, began September 29, so that the Germans took just ten days to reduce the formidable fortifications which surrounded the temporary capital of the Belgians. The Germans had, however, for a long time previously prepared the way by taking a number of towns in its vicinity.

The first direct attack was against the forts at Washlem and Wavre-St.
Catherine's. These were reduced by the aid of big siege guns. Meanwhile the forts at Lierre and Koningshoek had also been attacked and these and others of the outside line of fortifications were taken last week.

The last few days has seen the fighting advance to the inner line of forts and along the Scheldt, principally at Schoonaerde. At the last-named place severe fighting occurred for several days, but the superior artillery of the Germans gradually forced the Belgians back until in the last day or two the fighting reached practically to the suburbs of Antwerp.

On Wednesday, October 7, came reports that the Belgian government was moving to Ostend and that day also brought reports that the population was fleeing in terror toward the Holland frontier, Zeppelin attacks, which did much damage and killed scores of people, added to the terror of the inhabitants.

The German forces which have taken Antwerp are said to consist of five army corps. They were under the command of General Hans H. von Bussler, a veteran of the war of 1870, called from retirement to the work of reducing Antwerp. General de Guise was in command of the Belgian defenders. King Albert aided them by his personal direction almost to the last, having quit Antwerp, according to reports, only yesterday morning, probably when the end was seen.

Antwerp is 130 miles from London, where the fear has been expressed that with this city as a German base, Zeppelin airships could be used to attack the coastlines and even London. The distance from Antwerp to the British coast is less than 100 miles. It is estimated here that there are no fewer than 400,000 Germans in Belgium to-day.

HEALTH AND SPIRITS OF MEN ARE SPLENDID

Paris, Oct. 10.—Most of the letters from soldiers at the front speak of the great battle that is expected for tomorrow, and will decide the struggle along the Aisne and in the north. This shows that they, as well as the military critics, are baffled by the immense operations, of which the big battles here and there constitute only details. Heavy fighting occurs every day along some part of the battle-line, the importance of which cannot be gathered from the sober details of the official statements, and so it is impossible to assemble all the simultaneous movements bearing on the general situation. As a consequence the review of the situation by the critics resembles what they said yesterday and the day before. All agreed, however, that developments are favorable to the allies and all emphasize the advantage gained from splendid health and spirits shown by the army, which the war department is doing everything possible to maintain.

London, Oct. 9.—A dispatch to the Reuter company from Amsterdam says that the Berlin correspondent of the Telegraf reports that the German army headquarters are now at a French town fifty kilometres from the front, to which they were removed from Luxembourg. A special courier service has been arranged between Berlin and the headquarters and messengers make the round trip in three days. A wireless message from Berlin says that it is reported there that King Albert of Belgium has been slightly wounded. The Antwerp correspondent of the Central News under yesterday's date says: "The German effort towards North France with a view of fixing a wedge between Antwerp and the allies has been nearly destroyed. Fierce fighting is occurring around Lille and south of Ghent. Prisoners have been taken to Dunkirk and Ostend and a German aeroplane has been destroyed." General Grandi, minister of war in the Italian cabinet, has resigned, according to a Rome dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company. The resignation was the result of newspaper criticism of his department.

COLONEL BURLAND TO BE BURIED IN CANADA

London, Oct. 10.—The body of Lieut.-Col. Jeffrey Hale Burland was embalmed to-day and will be conveyed to Canada for interment at the earliest possible opportunity. Col. Burland died yesterday in his fifty-fourth year of angina pectoris. Mrs. Burland stated that the colonel had been in the best of health up to Thursday night, when he complained of a violent attack of indigestion. Examination, however, showed that the deceased had developed a serious attack which he survived only a few hours. Mrs. Burland is prostrated by the sudden shock and specialists were in attendance at the Hotel Stafford at a late hour last night.

PEACE RIVER WHEAT TO BE SHIPPED NEXT YEAR

Winnipeg, Oct. 10.—Probably 500,000 bushels of wheat and 1,000,000 bushels of oats will be shipped out of the Peace River country next year, according to J. K. Cornwall, of Edmonton. He says that there is 500,000 worth of grain in the district, but it cannot be shipped owing to the absence of railways. By next year, however, the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia railway, and also the C. N. R., will be available for transporting this grain. Speaking of the fur trade, he said that it was more directly affected by the war than any other Canadian industry.

REVENUE DECREASES BY SIXTEEN MILLIONS

Net Debt of Dominion Increased by $11,324,631 During September

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The financial statement of the Dominion for the first half of the present fiscal year, April to September inclusive, shows a falling off in revenue of $16,546,500, as compared with the same period last year, while current expenditures increased by $6,881,545. Expenditure on capital account decreased by $4,846,117. The net debt of the Dominion at the end of September stood at $343,386,584, an increase of $11,324,631 during the month, and of $43,779,309, as compared with September 30 of last year.

The September revenue shows a very considerable decrease, especially in the customs receipts. The total revenue for the month was $9,933,093, a decrease of $5,296,165, as compared with September of last year. Customs receipts for the month totalled $5,640,872, against $9,666,181 for September last year, a decrease of $4,025,309, or over 40 per cent. This is, of course, due to the practical stopping of imports at Atlantic and Pacific ports. Ports in the United States have, it is understood, shown an increase rather than a decrease. For six months the total revenue has been $70,333,231, as against $86,877,716 for the corresponding period last year. Customs revenue for the six months totalled $41,906,668, a decrease of $16,947,969.

Expenditure on consolidated fund account for the six months totalled $55,555,639, and on capital account $19,151,736. The issue of Dominion notes on September 30, totalled $132,432,100, as against $113,513,169 on September 30 last year. Temporary loans made by the government totalled at the end of the month $8,373,333, as against $4,866,600 on the present date last year.

From the present indications the total revenue for the full fiscal year will show a decrease of between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000, and the addition to the net debt will probably be upwards of $70,000,000.

TURKS PREPARING TO FIGHT WITH GERMANY

Army in Poor Shape and is Lacking Unity Among Its Officers

London, Oct. 9.—The Standard's Petrograd correspondent writes: "The organ of the Russian war office states that the Turks are busy making preparations for war in Asia Minor, especially in the vicinity of Barran and Erzerum. Caucasians are so accustomed to the idea of hostilities between Russia and Turkey that the rumors of the last few days cause very little excitement. Last spring Armenian merchants expressed most decided opinions with regard to the Turks being under the influence of the Germans. They were gradually assuming a most provocative attitude towards Russian subjects, while in the bazaars an energetic propaganda was carried out with the object of inciting the people against Russia. It was reported that Russia, after taking the whole northern part of Persia, now wished to annex Turkish Armenia. In Trebizond, Beirut, Erzerum and Hassan Kala, German officers were constantly found inspecting the forts and garrisons. As soon as Germany declared war, Turkey hastily mobilized, concentrating her forces on the Asiatic frontier of Caucasasia. The mobilization, however, was not a success. Many reservists employed in the Crimea and in Caucasasia either returned to the colors with exceeding reluctance or endeavored to escape service. According to the natives, Turkish officials have been busy traveling in Asia Minor as emissaries for the Young Turks, and have succeeded in convincing the fanatical people that Russia intends to take the Dardanelles as well as Turkish Armenia. It is stated that the forces of Turkey are in a most wretched state. There is no unity among the officers, who are continually quarreling with one another. The government, however, is busy distributing rifles and cartridges."

London, Oct. 9.—The Petrograd correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph wires that it is semi-officially stated that the situation on the Turkish-Persian frontier is regarded as threatening. Kurds disguised as Redifs (Turkish second line troops) have been attacking Cossacks in that region. The relations between Russia and Turkey have become very strained.

ARCHBISHOP HAMILTON OF OTTAWA RESIGNED

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 10.—The Anglican House of Bishops in session here yesterday accepted the resignation of Archbishop Hamilton, of Ottawa, both as head of the Ottawa diocese and Metropolitan of Canada. The Bishop of Algoma presided, and the resignation was accepted only after the archbishop had firmly refused to reconsider it. The retirement will take place on October 18, and a successor will be appointed a month later.

THREE DAYS' FIGHT IS RELATED BY WITNESS

German Infantry is Useless Without Leadership and Weakest in the Open

London, Oct. 9.—The official bureau has issued the following eye-witness narrative of operations in France, supplementing that made public on October 3.

"Wednesday, September 30, marked another day's progress in the situation, and was distinguished by no activity beyond slight attacks by the enemy. There was artillery fire at intervals. One of the airmen succeeded in dropping nine bombs, some of which fell on the enemy's stock near Laon.

"Thursday, October 1, was a perfect autumn day, and the most peaceful since the two forces became engaged on the Aisne. There was only desultory gun fire. At night the enemy made a few new trenches, and a French aviator dropped a bomb on the railway station and three others on nearby troops. The weather on Friday, the 2nd, was hazy. The Germans were driven out of a mill which they had occupied as an advanced position, their guns and machine guns which supported it being knocked out one by one by well-directed artillery fire. During the night they made the usual two attacks on the customary spot on our lines, and were again repulsed.

"The following description of the enemy's infantry tactics was given by a battalion commander who has been at the front since the beginning and has fought both in the open and behind entrenchments. The important points to watch are the valleys and woods, those on the sides of the hollow ground, and all dead ground to the front and flank. The German officers are skilled in leading troops forward and under cover and in closed bodies, but once the latter are deployed and there is no longer the direct, personal leadership, the men will not face heavy fire. Sometimes the advance is made in a series of lines, with the men well opened out; at others it is made in lines with the men almost shoulder to shoulder; but it is followed in all cases by special close formation. The latter either wavers when the front is checked or crowd on. The mass forms a magnificent target. Prisoners have described the fire of our troops as pinning them to the ground, and this is borne out by their actions. When the Germans are not heavily entrenched no great losses are incurred in advancing against them. For instance, with one attack over fairly open ground against an equal force of infantry sheltered in a sunken road and in ditches, we lost only ten men killed and sixty wounded, while more than 400 of the enemy surrendered.

"Each side had the support of a battery of artillery, but the fight for superiority of infantry fire took place at a range of about 700 yards, and lasted only half an hour. By this time the Germans were wavering. Some of them put up white flags, but others went on firing. Eventually a large number of white flags were exhibited all along the line, and many of the men hoisted their helmets on their rifles.

"In the fighting behind entrenchments, the Germans endeavor to gain ground by making an advance in line at dusk, or just before dawn, and then digging themselves in, in the hope, no doubt, that they may eventually get so near as to be able, as during manoeuvres, to reach the hostile trenches in a single rush.

"They never have succeeded in doing this. If, by creeping up in dead ground, they do succeed in forwarding their position by night, they are easily driven back by fire in the morning. A few of the bravest men sometimes remain behind at close range and endeavor to inflict losses by sniping. Sharpshooters are also located in trees. Few night attacks have been made against us. Previous to one of them a party of the enemy crept up close to the British line and set alight a haystack, so that it should form a beacon on which the centre attacking line marched. Light balls and searchlights on some occasions have been used. Against our men the enemy never has closed with the bayonet. The German trenches I have seen were deep enough to shelter a man while standing. As to our men, there was at first considerable reluctance to entrench. Now, having bought their experience dearly, their defences are good."

"The main Serbian forces who advanced on Romania and Planina, under command of General Mylos Bojanovic, former minister of war, were routed by our troops in an engagement which lasted two days, and only escaped capture by hasty flight. One battalion of eleven regiment and several quick-firing guns were captured. (Signed) POTOREK, "Field Marshal"

AUSTRIAN REPORT SAYS SERBIAN FORCE BEATEN

London, Oct. 8.—The Austrian war office made the following official announcement under date of October 3, says a dispatch to the Reuter company from Vienna, coming by way of Amsterdam: "To the already announced successes against the Montenegrin troops now is added a direct blow against the Serbians troops who invaded Bosnia at Visegrad. Their northern column from Srebrenitz, moving against Bajna and Basta, already have been repulsed and driven across the Drina with the loss of their supply train."

WAR AGAINST BRITAIN AT END OF THE MONTH

Rome, Oct. 10.—The war against Britain, according to German newspapers received here, will commence at the end of October, after Antwerp has fallen. Belgium then will become the base of operations against Great Britain, the newspapers say. They add that Admiral von Tirpitz, the minister of the navy, who is now at general headquarters with the Kaiser, has announced that he will go aboard the flagship of the German fleet and direct the operations of the navy.

LABOR CANDIDATES IN VANCOUVER ELECTIONS

Vancouver, Oct. 9.—The parliamentary committee of the trades and labor council at a meeting last night decided to place candidates in the field at the coming civic elections. One candidate for alderman will be selected for each of the eight wards, except Wards 1 and 2. One candidate will be placed in the field for the license and park commissions, each, and it is the intention to have two candidates for school trustees.

TURPINTINE IS DEADLY SUBSTANCE OF FRENCH

New Explosive Used Causes Instantaneous Paralysis on Striking Enemy

London, Oct. 10.—Remarkable tales of novel engines of war are appearing in all parts of Europe, but nothing has yet equaled the reports circulated concerning new guns, used by the French, which fire turpentine a substance said to produce instantaneous and painless death for every living thing within its reach.

Although it is so deadly in its work, turpentine cannot be objected to on the ground that it violates humane principles of war. In fact, it is so humane that it must not be confused with hydrolyte and other explosives which have deadly fumes.

British correspondents have reported that entire lines of German soldiers stood dead in their trenches as a result of the fumes from the mysterious turpentine discharged by the French in engagements along the Marne.

The dead Germans are reported to have maintained a standing posture and retained their rifles in their hands, so sudden and unusual was the effect of the new weapon. Instantaneous paralysis is said to have been caused by turpentine.

The French gun for the use of turpentine is shrouded in as great mystery as turpentine itself. Experts are required, it is said, for the use of the new ammunition and the manipulation of the strange gun so recently introduced into warfare.

Military experts are now speculating whether turpentine will lend itself to use in aeroplanes. Lydite, it is said, can be successfully employed by military aeroplanes and Zeppelins.

As Zeppelins are capable of carrying guns of considerable size, it is conceivable they might utilize turpentine.

STOOD BY SERGEANT WHOM SHELL STRUCK

British Campaigner Does Not Think German Howitzers Particularly Dangerous

Paris, Oct. 10.—It will be satisfactory when some indisputable authority has judged the question of the relative effectiveness of the German big howitzers, the approximate mortal range of action, and if they do as much execution as the noise they make would warrant. The testimony of a British campaigner who has observed the operations of these guns is of interest. He says: "I was standing with a sergeant watching a German sniper climbing up a church steeple. Black Marias had been dropping around us more or less all morning. When one pitched not a yard from us nobody saw any more of the sergeant. I found myself, after a while, lying in the hole it had made, about six feet in diameter and three or four feet deep. I felt in a fearful state of indescribable pain all over for perhaps five minutes, and then suddenly thought I was all right again. I walked a few paces and tumbled into the arms of a corporal. Since then I have not walked, having several pieces of shell in my legs and three bits in my head.

"About the Black Marias, you may take it from me, and I have seen a good deal of shell-fire and a good deal of them; that they do very little harm except exactly where they pitch. If they come among standing troops, of course they blow them to bits and the first effect of the shot is very bad. But you see my own case, after a day or two I was very little the worse for the splinters. I should say that at thirty yards there was no danger for men lying down, though, of course, standing you might be hit.

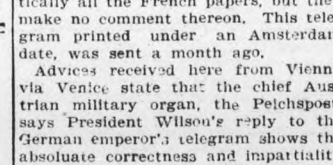

"How I came to be in the hole and so little damaged I cannot imagine. There was nothing left of the sergeant at my side."

WILSON HOPES WAR WILL SOON BE ENDED

President's Reply to German Emperor Published by French Newspapers.

Paris, Oct. 10.—The response of President Wilson to the telegram of Emperor William, in which the president expresses hope that the war will soon be finished, is published by practically all the French papers, but they make no comment thereon. This telegram printed under an Amsterdam date, was sent a month ago.

Advices received here from Vienna via Venice state that the chief Austrian military organ, the Peichpost, says President Wilson's reply to the German emperor's telegram shows the absolute correctness and impartiality of the United States in the war.

TWENTY-FIVE ON TRIAL FOR ARCHDUKE'S MURDER

Evidence to Be Taken on Charge of High Treason Will Be Commenced Monday

Venice via Paris, Oct. 10.—The trial of the persons accused of the assassination of the heir-apparent to the Austrian throne, Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenberg, will begin Monday in Sarajevo. It is expected to last three weeks. There are twenty-five prisoners, twenty-one of whom are Serbians and four Croats. Ten of the prisoners are under 20 years of age. The indictment charges high treason. It further alleges that the evidence obtained proves that the assassination of the archduke was only the means toward other treasonable ends.

TO CURE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be treated home by an internal medicine that has been said in many instances to have effected a complete cure after all else had failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from their ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will perhaps have been the means of saving someone suffering from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from any good druggist in Victoria 1 oz. Parmitin (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it a pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh. Therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial.

THREE FRENCH SOLDIERS CAPTURE GERMAN GUNS

Bordeaux, Oct. 10.—The story of how three French soldiers captured two quick-firers and sent to flight two companies of German infantry, is related in a letter sent home by the captain of a company of infantry, which is fighting on the Aisne.

Two corporals and a private, in reconnoitering, crawled within ten yards of the German trenches. Most of the German soldiers were away to get their dinners, and the officers were some distance back of the guns.

The three Frenchmen sprang into the trenches and turned the guns on the unsuspecting Germans, who fled, communicating the panic to two companies.

The same night the corporals were made second lieutenants and the soldier was made a sergeant-major as a reward for their daring.

THE WAR.

The fall of Antwerp was not unexpected. It might have held out for some time longer, but no good purpose would have been served in subjecting it to a continuance of the distress occasioned by the bombardment. A considerable part of the city was in flames, there were three hundred thousand people in the place who could not escape and the loss of life among non-combatants would have been terrible. As far as can be gathered from the reports the bulk of the Belgian army already had evacuated the fortifications, by way of the railroad which runs westward towards Bruges. Unless all signs fail they will effect a junction with the allies, if they have not done so already.

A message to the Exchange newspaper agency in London says the German attempt to cross the Scheldt was repulsed. The object of this movement undoubtedly was to cut off the retreat of the Belgian troops. King Albert in leading his forces out of the place when it became too hot to be comfortable showed sound strategy. The allies are not making the mistake of locking up large armies in fortified cities either in France or Belgium. It was this short-sightedness which brought about the ruin of Louis Napoleon's campaign forty-four years ago. As long as there is a mobile army in the field the possession of a fortified position by the enemy is of no immediate strategic value, and its only value is as a means of protection should the Germans desire to retreat. More than that, as long as the Belgian army, in co-operation with the allies, is capable of operating in Belgium, the Germans cannot send reinforcements to France in any large numbers even with Antwerp in their possession.

There is considerable talk of Antwerp becoming a base of naval operations against Great Britain. This is all moonshine, although anything of the kind would be welcomed by the allies. In the first place, it would infringe upon the neutrality of Holland, thereby compelling the Germans to extend their operations almost two hundred miles farther north and making the frontier of Rhenish Prussia more vulnerable to invasion. Secondly, it would necessitate a dash by the German navy into the North Sea, the very thing the British fleet has been hoping for and what von Tirpitz most religiously has refrained from attempting.

The fall of Antwerp probably will divert attention from the significance of two or three announcements in the French official bulletin to-day. Material gains are reported north of the Oise, evidently in the region of Roye, where sixteen hundred prisoners have been captured, and also along the Meuse. The necessity of relieving Antwerp no longer existing, the allies can now play a waiting game, resting their troops and disposing their reinforcements. The great battle in the east evidently has not yet begun, for Austria is claiming victories—a sure sign the Russians have not commenced their march. When the time comes we predict that the allies will strike with all their weight simultaneously on both fronts.

It is reported that Portugal is preparing to join the allies. Most of these rumors have emanated from Berlin and for that reason have been discredited in neutral countries. No doubt the Huns hope to involve Spain on their side, just as they are attempting to induce Turkey to enter the fray. Portugal's military and naval strength are scarcely such as to make her a very effective ally of either side. Turkey is said to be becoming restive again and it is even stated that some of her troops have come into conflict with Cossacks in the Caucasus. Heavy German guns have been mounted on the Dardanelles and German officers are working overtime in getting the Porte's army into fighting shape. Bulgaria also is rumored to be leaning to the side of Germany and Austria, and an unconfirmed report says that Bulgarians have attacked the Servians at Istip in Bosnia.

Perhaps it would be well for the peace of the world if both Turkey and Bulgaria intervened on the side of the modern Huns. It would bring Roumania, Greece and probably Italy into the war in support of the allies and clear up the Balkan hodge-podge for all time. The Turks would be driven back to Asia and would cease to be a nation. Roumania would redeem Transylvania, that part of Hungary which on racial lines should belong to her, and generally the Balkans no more would be the powder magazine of Europe. It is inconceivable that the great war should come to an end without settling the issues from which it sprang. The sooner Turkey—"Germany's naturally ally," as General von Bernhardi so glowingly described her in his book—enters the struggle the better.

LOYD GEORGE AND THE ADMIRALTY.

"In a public address last week, Mr. Lloyd George said he never thought this war was possible up to a few days before it began. He is entitled to credit for his frankness—but it is just as well he wasn't First Lord of the Admiralty."—Montreal Herald.

We quite agree with the writer of the foregoing extract, but for a different reason from the one which inspired his comment. Lloyd George is the ideal man for the job he is filling, especially at this time. In many respects the finest stroke of the war lies to his credit, which in its effect upon the ultimate outcome was more important than even a victory in the field. His intervention on behalf of the government during the financial crisis averted a panic which might have proved disastrous. His taking over of the insurance of shipping has had an effect of incalculable importance. As he has so aptly said, this war will be won by the silver bullet. Germany can find the first two or three hundred millions as easily as Great Britain. It is the last two hundred millions that will count, and no matter how formidable may be her army and navy, Germany must collapse when her money is gone. Wars cannot be won on wind, and this one is costing her fifteen millions a day.

Moreover, on the other hand, although Lloyd George is a well-known pacifist, there is no reason to believe that his incumbency of the post of First Lord of the Admiralty would have resulted in a diminution of Britain's sea power. In a new environment with a different viewpoint it is altogether probable he would have promoted the naval service with the same intensity that has characterized his championship of reform legislation. A lover of peace, he is temperamentally the foremost fighting man of the kingdom. It was he who made the speech which hauled Germany off France three years ago. Time was when there was no more uncompromising critic of heavy naval expenditures than Winston Churchill, and that time was nearer than most people are aware of. It would be hazardous to surmise that Lloyd George as First Lord of the Admiralty would not have been even more aggressive than Mr. Churchill. In every other respect he is the most aggressive member of the cabinet.

NAVAL DEFENCE.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper moved a resolution at a public meeting held last night in Vancouver that Canada should, with the other overseas Dominions, assume her share of the naval defence of the Empire. This resolution is timely or untimely according to the point of view, but at least it clears the way for discussion of the subject. Five years ago an agreement for the naval defence of the Empire was reached at an Imperial conference. If the programme then adopted had been carried out in its entirety the resolution moved by Sir Hibbert Tupper and unanimously passed would not have been necessary, nor would there have been any excuse for Sir Richard McBride making one of his periodic pilgrimages to Ottawa for the purpose of urging upon the present Prime Minister, Sir Robert Borden, the necessity of taking immediate measures for the naval protection of this section of Canada.

Australia was a party to the compact for the naval defence of the Empire. She has loyally and energetically carried out her end of the pact, and to-day she is not only protecting her own shores but is playing an important part in shearing Germany of her rapidly diminishing colonial possessions.

When the war broke out, instead of Canada having a number of fast and well-armed modern cruisers, destroyers and other small but effective craft in commission, she had the Rainbow and the Niobe, procured from the admiralty as training ships, lying dismantled at Esquimalt and Halifax. The Rainbow was hastily commissioned; the Niobe was left lying unmanned until an Imperial naval officer called attention to the scandal of the situation, more than a month after the outbreak of hostilities.

Sir Richard McBride, recalling, we presume, his former dramatic declaration that he could not be expected to undertake the naval defence of British Columbia unless he was furnished with the appliances necessary thereto, persuaded the Borden government to procure, at a cost of more than a million dollars, two submarines constructed in Seattle for the Chilean government.

British Columbia remains inviolate, therefore, and her people dwell in security now and will continue so to dwell, not because of measures taken by the present government, but because ample protection has been given by the overseas fleets of Great Britain, supplemented by warships from the forces of our ally, Japan. We do not occupy the honorable and self-respecting position of Australia because the Borden government, on the orders of its former master, Bourassa, the Nationalist leader in Quebec, who even now is protesting against Canada taking an active part in the war, cancelled the naval programme agreed upon in 1909 between the admiralty and the self-governing dominions of the Empire.

A CONTRAST.

The Berlin newspaper Der Tag publishes an article written by Herr von Sachs, mayor of Insterburg, a Prussian town that was occupied by the Russian troops, "on the behavior of the Cossacks who invaded the territory of East Prussia." The writer says:

"These curious people do not at all remind one of those cruel Mongols which the Cossacks were represented to be in Germany, except, perhaps, for their characteristic wild shouting, which with them takes the place of singing. They are all dressed very neatly, look unusually cheerful, and much more handsome than the Russian laborers whom we have been accustomed to see among us.

"Two officers, one of whom spoke French fluently, required some fodder for horses and the evacuation of an estate for the installation of a strong cavalry force which followed them, but they formulated their demand with a civility and a consideration which, under the circumstances, amazed me, and in order to avoid any misunderstandings or misrepresentations as to the conduct of the occupying Russian soldiers I categorically declare that the Cossacks behaved themselves throughout the whole course of my personal observation in an exemplary and irreprehensible manner toward the civil population, totally ignoring the offensive and uncontrollable youths.

"Neither do I know of a single instance of lack of respect on the part of the Russian soldiers for the German multitudes or of any sign of misdemeanor toward German women.

"Worthy of applause also is the attitude of some of the Polish residents in the invaded territory toward the German population. They heralded with joy the entry of the Russian forces into their towns and the institution of the new order of things, but they are nevertheless maintaining the same amicable relationship with the German inhabitants, treating them as co-citizens and not as foes.

"The panic and terror prevailing throughout the length and breadth of Prussia are to be attributed exclusively to the machinations of the Berlin press, which sang our public to sleep with countless fantastic beliefs. The effect of this has been that our people lost their usual firmness of heart and spirit and thus facilitated the plans of the Russians.

"In conclusion, I desire to repeat most emphatically that throughout the region of my jurisdiction the Cossacks have not committed a single act of violence against the peaceful inhabitants of the territory invaded by them."

THE HOPE OF THE WEST.

The head of the Canadian Pacific Railway publicity department, who has been visiting the city, says that mixed farming is increasing in the prairie provinces and that "wheat miners" are being displaced rapidly. While this no doubt is true in the older settled areas contiguous to the flourishing towns where the demand for the products of intensive agriculture is such as to make it profitable, grain growing will continue to be the main, primary industry of the middle west and the acreage under wheat, it is to be hoped, will maintain its normal increase.

In growing wheat in a country naturally adapted to it by virtue of conditions of climate, soil and market the Canadian farmer merely obeys

a fundamentally sound economic law. His land is cleared when he acquires it; it can produce a quality of wheat unsurpassed anywhere else in the world and until his market was restricted and railway rates became oppressive he was able to reap substantial profits within a very short period of the time when he erected his humble habitation. Besides, wheat is the primary staple product of agriculture. It is the raw material of the "staff of life." It has a lineage which antedates any other tribute from the soil. Its production was a flourishing industry away back in the shadowy days of Egyptian and Israelitish antiquity. The "wheat miner," a term which has obtained widespread popularity among those who for selfish reasons opposed the agitation for unrestricted access to the enormous market which wanted the product, need not be ashamed of his ancestry. The founders of his order were "mining" wheat in the Valley of the Euphrates five thousand years before the trade restrictions of Canada were even dreamed of.

Mixed farming cannot be forced upon a country before its time. This is such a simple logical fact that it is hardly necessary to state it. Nevertheless when the grain growers sought to obtain wider markets by reciprocal tariff reductions with the United States the policy of the restrictionists was something along the following lines: "Try mixed farming. Profitable wheat growing by you conflicts with our interests. There are only a few of us, it is true, but we have quality while you have only quantity. Don't rest under the reproach of being wheat miners. Raise potatoes, turnips and carrots; show nature you don't give a snap of your fingers for the conditions she has imposed. Look at us. We have stood in the way of what faddists call the natural laws of trade for years, and see how prosperous we are."

Mixed farming will spread throughout Canada when time and conditions warrant it, and that will be when it is easier, more economical and more profitable than wheat growing. It was the wheat growing industry that put Canada on the world's map and the Dominion is known abroad more as a grain producer than anything else. If the vanguard of settlers who went to the prairie provinces fifteen or twenty years ago had not gone in extensively and exclusively for the raising of grain the whole region to-day would be a comparative wilderness. It is too early to say that intensive farming is the hope of the west. The country has not reached its maximum as a grain producer, and it would be a misfortune if it had. Remove the restrictions imposed in the interests of trust and combinations, and it will be wheat raising and not what is severally described as mixed farming that will be found to be the great contributing factor in the prosperity of a considerable portion of the Dominion.

NATURE.

The stream is flowing, flowing, The winged winds fit by. The day is sowing, sowing, The beams that burn and die. The sunset and the morning, The meadows and the sea, The flower-cups adorning The hibiscus and the lea. The golden task appointed Perform without regret, Like one crowned and anointed With a mission marked and set. They know not care or sorrow. Nor backward look with pain; To them there is no morrow, They know not loss or gain. S. E. T.

The Coming Winter.—Will it be a case of roaming the streets looking for a job, while you spend your few dollars renting a room and eating at restaurants? Or will you join the number who are already in the country carving out a home for themselves, where every day's work improving their land is a cash deposit in the safest of banks? That they did not take advantage either of the exceptional facilities we offer the landless man is the one regret our settlers have.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, October 10, 1889.

Charles Palmer, Q. C., one of the most eminent lawyers of the Dominion, and brother of Chief Justice Palmer, of Prince Edward Island, is in the city on a visit to his nephew, Captain Palmer, of C. Battery. He is accompanied by his son, R. E. Palmer, of Vancouver.

The dangerous little catpulp must go. Superintendent of Police Sheppard so ordained in a speech delivered yesterday in language which was clearly understood by the boys of the Central school. A collection of catpulp was taken up and pocketed by Superintendent Sheppard. Private schools will also be visited by the superintendent.

The Foresters of this city are discussing the advisability of purchasing a lot in the city and erecting a hall thereon. Many are in favor of the idea and the scheme will probably be carried out. The total membership of the local lodges is 270.

Messrs. John Fannin, of the provincial museum, and D. E. Campbell, druggist, returned a few days ago from the Spallumcheen country where they have been hunting for several weeks. They were remarkably successful in the chase, seven cariboo and several mule deer falling before their rifles. Mr. Fannin will add to the museum a whole cariboo family.

Building Permits.—Permits have been issued by the building inspector to Mrs. E. Hardisty, for a frame dwelling on Howe street, to cost $2,000, and to W. A. Robertson, for a storehouse on Clarke street, to cost $100.

Tests of Engines.—In the presence of Fire Chief Davis, tests of the fire engines were continued yesterday to determine their actual capacity. These tests are being made in answer to the complaint of the experts who recently reported on the fire protection of the city and held that the engines showed inadequate boiler power.

Annual Meeting.—In the current issue of the Canada Gazette notice appears of the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Vancouver, Fraser River and Southern Railway company, to be held at the office in Vancouver on Saturday, October 31.

Sentence Day Tuesday.—Sentence day in the assizes has been fixed by Mr. Justice Gregory for 11 o'clock Tuesday. Dock and On Hing, the Chinaman found guilty of highway robbery, and Thomas Gillings, found guilty of sedition, are to be sentenced.

Will Be Considered.—Jones & Rant, Ltd., have submitted to the finance committee of the city council an offer to take short term debentures in payment for street work. The matter was laid on the table yesterday till the question of the sale of the proposed $250,000 worth of treasury bills has been taken up.

Did Not Appear.—In the case of Wong Sing, who is accused of assaulting a fellow Chinaman, a difficulty was caused in the police court this morning by the non-appearance of the informant. The city prosecutor stated that the informant evidently did not desire to prosecute. Another attempt will be made, however, to discover his whereabouts by Tuesday next.

One Necessity Does Not Advance.—Although advanced prices are charged everywhere for foodstuffs not a cent extra is asked for SALADA tea. Admittedly it is costing the company several cents a pound more than heretofore, but you can buy SALADA anywhere in the west at 40c per pound for Brown Label, 50c for Blue Label and 60c a pound for Red Label.

Pandora Avenue Paving.—The work of laying the asphalt surface on Pandora avenue by the Canadian Mineral Rubber company was completed yesterday afternoon. Now that the street paving is finished the immense improvement to the lower portion of the city is fully appreciated. There is still a deal of work to do at the intersection of the avenue with Douglas street on the B. C. Electric railway switch and curve, but this is expected to be done early in the coming week and traffic can then use Pandora avenue without obstruction.

Navy League Chapter.—A special meeting of the Navy League chapter, I. O. D. E., took place yesterday in the Temple building, when the members discussed the matter of donating something toward the Thanksgiving dinner for the naval volunteers, the sum of $25 being voted for this purpose. The sum of $73 was voted as the chapter's share of the cost of the colors presented recently to the 8th Fusiliers. The chapter decided to purchase socks for the naval volunteers, a collection being taken up at the meeting for the purpose, and considerable discussion took place with regard to the furnishing of the recreation room of the naval volunteers, for which donations of chairs, rugs, games, pictures, etc., will be most welcome. Communications should be sent to Mrs. G. H. S. Edwards, 1312 Beach Drive.

This Xmas photographs will be particularly appropriate for presents. For the month of October the Skene Lowe Studio will reduce the price of Corona portraits in embossed folders from $7.00 to $5.25 per dozen. Next month the price will again be $7.00. Corner Douglas and Yates Street.

Registration of Householders.—The registration of householders as voters in the next civic elections is proceeding slowly in the office of the cit. assessors, but this is nothing out of the common. Year after year the first three weeks pass with very few of those who are entitled to claim the franchise as householders or license holders making application for addition to the lists, but in the last ten days of the month they flock into the office in a constant stream. It would greatly facilitate the work of the office generally if people would remember early in the month that they have to register, the rush at the last interfering with the routine work of the office. Agreement holders have until the end of November to make affidavit that they are the holders of the last agreement of sale in connection with the property they are purchasing, and therefore entitled to exercise the civic franchise both for the election of civic representatives and in regard to money by-laws.

Injured in Collision.—In a collision on Belleville street, yesterday between automobile 2424 and an express wagon, near the C. P. R. wharf, the driver of the wagon was thrown and received severe bruises on the right leg. The police patrol answered the call with Sergeant Harper and Constable Elliott, who found Hugh Gallocher, of 2210 Denman street in great pain. Dr. Sinclair was summoned, and the removal of the injured man was ordered to the Jubilee hospital where he is now receiving attention.

Centennial Epworth League.—The monthly consecration meeting of the Centennial Epworth league was held Monday evening, in the parlor of the church, Miss Holt occupying the chair. The meeting was addressed by Miss McEwan, chairman of the missionary committee and after the address the president received four new members into the league. Next Monday the league will meet at the parlor of the church at 7:15 and proceed in a body to the Oaklands Methodist church to assist in the special services which are being held at that church.

Volunteer Police Parade.—The Oak Bay Volunteer police, or the Oak Bay Guard as it is sometimes called, will parade on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Oak Bay Avenue school. All members are requested to be present.

Was Grateful.—Clair Crossen, an American accused of vagrancy in the police court this morning, was highly grateful when the magistrate remanded him on his own recognizances to give him an opportunity to get out of town. He made great haste in availing himself of the chance given him.

Oak Bay Court.—Fines of $3 were imposed at the Oak Bay police court yesterday afternoon on two men who rode their bicycles on the sidewalk. For driving his automobile without the rear light lighted an owner was fined $5. A Chinaman who drove a vehicle across the sidewalk was fined $10.

Fifth Troop Boy Scouts.—Last evening there was a parade of Fifth Troop, Boy Scouts, at which the turnout was large. The troop will parade to St. John's church on Sunday morning, assembling at the corner of Fort and Quadra streets at 10:15 a. m. Two patrols of the troop are to attend the harvest thanksgiving services in St. Jude's mission to-morrow evening.

Motorists Spilled.—Last evening a motor car, driven by R. M. Burgess, skidded and upset when the driver turned out to avoid a dog which suddenly crossed its path. The six occupants, Mrs. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Connell, Miss Lander, and Master Gordon Burgess, were spilled from the car, none, fortunately, suffering more than the shaking up. Mr. Burgess was pinned beneath the machine, but escaped serious injury in some remarkable manner.

Mr. Burgess was pinned beneath the machine, but escaped serious injury in some remarkable manner.

Motorists Spilled.—Last evening a motor car, driven by R. M. Burgess, skidded and upset when the driver turned out to avoid a dog which suddenly crossed its path. The six occupants, Mrs. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Connell, Miss Lander, and Master Gordon Burgess, were spilled from the car, none, fortunately, suffering more than the shaking up. Mr. Burgess was pinned beneath the machine, but escaped serious injury in some remarkable manner.

MUNICIPAL VOTERS' LIST FOR 1915. The Municipal Voters' List of the City of Victoria is composed of the names of three classes of voters, namely, those who vote as: 1. ASSESSED OWNERS OF PROPERTY OF THE ASSESSED VALUE OF NOT LESS THAN $100.00. 2. HOUSEHOLDERS. 3. LICENSEES. (a) ASSESSED OWNERS WHO ARE NOT HOLDERS OF AN AGREEMENT OF PURCHASE OR THE EQUIVALENT UPON WHICH THEY DESIRE TO QUALIFY. (b) THOSE WHO ARE: Before the assessed owner of property held under agreement to purchase can have his name entered on the voters' list he is required to file with the Clerk, or Assessor, before the closing of the voters' list (on the 30th day of September next at 5 p. m.) a STATUTORY DECLARATION proving that he, or she, is the holder of the LAST AGREEMENT TO PURCHASE LAND OR REAL PROPERTY, or is the LAST ASSIGNEE THEREOF, by the terms of which such holder, or assignee, is liable to pay the taxes, has paid the current year's taxes, and is a British subject. (c) AUTHORIZED REPRESENTATIVES OF CORPORATIONS. The duly authorized representatives of a corporation must be a resident of this Province and a British subject, and the Corporation must have its name on the voters' list and be the assessed owner of lands, or improvements, in the municipality of the assessed value of not less than $100.00. 2. HOUSEHOLDERS. "shall extend to and include any person of the full age of 21 years who occupies a dwelling, tenement, hotel or boarding house, who has as a resident in the municipality from the first day of January of the current year, and who shall, unless exempted by the provisions of the proviso at the end of sub-section (2) of Section 54 of the Municipal Act (which exempts certified efficient militiamen and persons over the age of 60 years from paying road taxes, have paid directly to the municipality all rates, taxes or assessments which are not chargeable on land, which rates, taxes or assessments, so paid shall amount to not less than two dollars, due to the municipality for the current year, other than water, rates or taxes, or license fees for dogs." 3. LICENSEES. "This voter is one who carries on business in the municipality and is the holder of a trades license, the annual fee of which is not less than $5.00." 4. In the case of a holder of a trades license, and in the case of a household, he, or she, shall during the month of October in each year, make and cause to be delivered to the Clerk of the Municipality, a statutory declaration made and subscribed before a Supreme or County Court Judge, Stipendiary or Police Magistrate, Commissioner for taking affidavits in the Supreme Court, Justice of the Peace, or Notary Public, or Municipal Clerk, in the form and to the effect of Form 1 in the Schedule of the said Act in the case of the holder of a trades license, and of Form 2 in said Schedule in the case of a household. 5. No declaration to qualify as a household, or license holder, can be accepted by the Clerk unless it is delivered within 48 hours after it is made. 6. No person shall, under any circumstances, be entitled to more than one vote for Mayor or Alderman at the same election except a voter who also acts as the duly authorized agent of a corporation as above mentioned. 7. No person who is not a British subject can have his name placed upon the voters' list or be allowed to vote at any municipal election. 8. No Chinese, Japanese or other Asiatic or Indian are entitled to vote at any municipal election for the election of Mayor or Alderman. 9. No application to the Police Magistrate, or a Judge, for an order to add to the voters' list the name of any person alleged to have been improperly excluded therefrom, shall be heard, or order made, after the 31st day of December next. FORMS OF DECLARATION MAY BE OBTAINED AND THE NECESSARY DECLARATIONS MADE, AT THE OFFICE OF THE CITY ASSESSOR, SECOND FLOOR, CITY HALL, DOUGLAS STREET. WELLINGTON J. DOWLER, C. M. C. Victoria, B. The Coming Winter.—Will it be a case of roaming the streets looking for a job, while you spend your few dollars renting a room and eating at restaurants? Or will you join the number who are already in the country carving out a home for themselves, where every day's work improving their land is a cash deposit in the safest of banks? That they did not take advantage either of the exceptional facilities we offer the landless man is the one regret our settlers have. We control thousands of acres of good, well-watered land close to the railway between Parksville and Courtenay. The Brentwood Hotel is preparing to entertain a large number of people during the week-end and the following Monday, which is Thanksgiving. Home grown turkeys and chickens in abundance with plenty of home-made jellies, preserves, branded peaches, etc., will help to make the days enjoyable and the meals appetizing. Following dinner, Thanksgiving Day, Mr. Heaton will provide music for a dance. Reservations should be telephoned to the hotel or to 2470. Dance, Cloverdale Hall, Monday, Oct. 12. Gentlemen, 35c; Ladies, free. Meeting Postponed.—The meeting of the Local Council of Women, which was to have taken place on Monday, has been postponed to Monday, October 19, owing to Thanksgiving day falling on the earlier date. Annual Meeting.—In the current issue of the Canada Gazette notice appears of the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Vancouver, Fraser River and Southern Railway company, to be held at the office in Vancouver on Saturday, October 31. Sentence Day Tuesday.—Sentence day in the assizes has been fixed by Mr. Justice Gregory for 11 o'clock Tuesday. Dock and On Hing, the Chinaman found guilty of highway robbery, and Thomas Gillings, found guilty of sedition, are to be sentenced. Will Be Considered.—Jones & Rant, Ltd., have submitted to the finance committee of the city council an offer to take short term debentures in payment for street work. The matter was laid on the table yesterday till the question of the sale of the proposed $250,000 worth of treasury bills has been taken up. Did Not Appear.—In the case of Wong Sing, who is accused of assaulting a fellow Chinaman, a difficulty was caused in the police court this morning by the non-appearance of the informant. The city prosecutor stated that the informant evidently did not desire to prosecute. Another attempt will be made, however, to discover his whereabouts by Tuesday next. One Necessity Does Not Advance.—Although advanced prices are charged everywhere for foodstuffs not a cent extra is asked for SALADA tea. Admittedly it is costing the company several cents a pound more than heretofore, but you can buy SALADA anywhere in the west at 40c per pound for Brown Label, 50c for Blue Label and 60c a pound for Red Label. Pandora Avenue Paving.—The work of laying the asphalt surface on Pandora avenue by the Canadian Mineral Rubber company was completed yesterday afternoon. Now that the street paving is finished the immense improvement to the lower portion of the city is fully appreciated. There is still a deal of work to do at the intersection of the avenue with Douglas street on the B. C. Electric railway switch and curve, but this is expected to be done early in the coming week and traffic can then use Pandora avenue without obstruction. Navy League Chapter.—A special meeting of the Navy League chapter, I. O. D. E., took place yesterday in the Temple building, when the members discussed the matter of donating something toward the Thanksgiving dinner for the naval volunteers, the sum of $25 being voted for this purpose. The sum of $73 was voted as the chapter's share of the cost of the colors presented recently to the 8th Fusiliers. The chapter decided to purchase socks for the naval volunteers, a collection being taken up at the meeting for the purpose, and considerable discussion took place with regard to the furnishing of the recreation room of the naval volunteers, for which donations of chairs, rugs, games, pictures, etc., will be most welcome. Communications should be sent to Mrs. G. H. S. Edwards, 1312 Beach Drive. This Xmas photographs will be particularly appropriate for presents. For the month of October the Skene Lowe Studio will reduce the price of Corona portraits in embossed folders from $7.00 to $5.25 per dozen. Next month the price will again be $7.00. Corner Douglas and Yates Street.

"GOODFELLOWS" WORK. Well Known and Generous Friends of the Poor Prepare to Lend Aid. An emergency has arisen. The unwelcome effects of the war have imposed an unprecedented burden on the charities of Victoria. In this time of stress for the unfortunate, the Goodfellows, big-hearted and willing of hand, well known for their generosity at Christmas time in years gone by, have volunteered to come to the rescue. Arrangements have been made for the co-operation of the Friendly Help societies, with their organization of workers and accurate records and knowledge of needs. Aid may be given in person to those in need, anonymously if so chosen, and the contributions of those of the Goodfellows who express a desire to appear in the work only as anonymous givers will be administered either through the regular channels of the Friendly Help societies or for such special purpose or family as the giver may desire. The plan of administration leaves the way open for the Goodfellow to be a Goodfellow in almost any manner or degree that he may wish. All Goodfellows know what a home is, and the work of the Friendly Help associations very largely concentrates on the preservation of the home and the unity of the family. An invitation is extended to anyone wishing to join the Goodfellows to send in name and address to the Goodfellow headquarters, The Daily Times. Speeded Motorcycle.—W. J. Stoffer was fined $10 by Magistrate Jay this morning for speeding a motorcycle along Dallas road. The defendant admitted that he had traveled beyond the statutory limit. Volunteer Police Parade.—The Oak Bay Volunteer police, or the Oak Bay Guard as it is sometimes called, will parade on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Oak Bay Avenue school. All members are requested to be present. Drawing at Six.—At six o'clock this evening the drawing for the Persian kitten and chocolate set, given to be raffled in aid of the Belgian fund, will take place at Terry's drug store. Anyone wishing to witness the drawing is invited to be present. Was Grateful.—Clair Crossen, an American accused of vagrancy in the police court this morning, was highly grateful when the magistrate remanded him on his own recognizances to give him an opportunity to get out of town. He made great haste in availing himself of the chance given him. Oak Bay Court.—Fines of $3 were imposed at the Oak Bay police court yesterday afternoon on two men who rode their bicycles on the sidewalk. For driving his automobile without the rear light lighted an owner was fined $5. A Chinaman who drove a vehicle across the sidewalk was fined $10. Fifth Troop Boy Scouts.—Last evening there was a parade of Fifth Troop, Boy Scouts, at which the turnout was large. The troop will parade to St. John's church on Sunday morning, assembling at the corner of Fort and Quadra streets at 10:15 a. m. Two patrols of the troop are to attend the harvest thanksgiving services in St. Jude's mission to-morrow evening. Motorists Spilled.—Last evening a motor car, driven by R. M. Burgess, skidded and upset when the driver turned out to avoid a dog which suddenly crossed its path. The six occupants, Mrs. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Connell, Miss Lander, and Master Gordon Burgess, were spilled from the car, none, fortunately, suffering more than the shaking up. Mr. Burgess was pinned beneath the machine, but escaped serious injury in some remarkable manner. Injured in Collision.—In a collision on Belleville street, yesterday between automobile 2424 and an express wagon, near the C. P. R. wharf, the driver of the wagon was thrown and received severe bruises on the right leg. The police patrol answered the call with Sergeant Harper and Constable Elliott, who found Hugh Gallocher, of 2210 Denman street in great pain. Dr. Sinclair was summoned, and the removal of the injured man was ordered to the Jubilee hospital where he is now receiving attention. Centennial Epworth League.—The monthly consecration meeting of the Centennial Epworth league was held Monday evening, in the parlor of the church, Miss Holt occupying the chair. The meeting was addressed by Miss McEwan, chairman of the missionary committee and after the address the president received four new members into the league. Next Monday the league will meet at the parlor of the church at 7:15 and proceed in a body to the Oaklands Methodist church to assist in the special services which are being held at that church.

WHEN YOU BUY A PIANO BUY A CANADIAN MADE PIANO. There is a good deal of quiet patriotism in using Canadian made products, especially during these times of stress. No doubt you are doing so now with most of the things you use. Every cent you spend for purely Canadian-made goods helps your own country just that much. This is a patriotism that does not call for much sacrifice. For instance, when you want a piano, you can buy one of the finest instruments made—the famous Gerhard Heintzman—an instrument that will bear any comparison, an instrument that has almost half a century of wonderful reputation behind it. It is purely Canadian made. It is Canada's Best Piano. COME IN AND HEAR A GERHARD HEINTZMAN. FLETCHER BROS. Western Canada's Largest Music House. 1231 GOVERNMENT ST., VICTORIA, B.C.

Let me talk to you about Nerve Troubles. Our nerves are like an intricate network of telegraph wires. They are controlled and nourished by a portion of the brain known as the nerve centres. The condition of the nerve centres depends upon the condition of the bodily health. When the bodily health is lowered the nerves suffer in sympathy. Then it is that we are tormented with "nerves," headaches, neuralgia, nervous debility. In such cases there is nothing to equal 'Wincarnis,' the 'Wine of Life.' 'Wincarnis' is a powerful nerve food which acts directly upon the nerve centres and gives them new life and new vitality. The result is wonderful. Will you try it? Begin to get well FREE. FUR TRIMMING FOR THE FALL MILLINERY

This Will Be Strong Feature of Styles and Military Effects Will Be Prominent

New York, Oct. 3.—Fuller skirts have arrived! Many of the dressmakers modify them by having an underskirt beneath which is as tight as of yore; others are side pleated, having yoke effects at the top to lessen the fullness around the waist.

Coats are made with skirts which are pleated or cut circular, reaching often to the bottom of the dresses. A noticeable model in seal brown duvetyne is trimmed with silk cord embroidery. The coat is long in front with a wide belt, or yoke, from which the skirt is hung. The skirt is pleated at the back and draped up at the sides. In the back the coat reaches quite below the knees.

In one of the Paris shops a wonderful smart wrap was shown of heavy, long-haired, cream-colored plush with a lining of brilliant brocaded crepe. A large collar of black monkey fur was

Fashionable Fall Coats to Sell at $15.00 Each

SPLENDID VALUES

Those who have appropriated at from $15 to $20 for a new Coat are especially invited to view these models. These Coats will impress you as being better value than usual for the money. You will immediately recognize their special style features and deserving qualities. Better values have not been offered heretofore at this price.

One model in the popular Balmaean style is in a heavy tweed in black and blue mixture. This coat has the Raglan sleeves and large collar which fits snugly round the throat. Also a belted model at the same price, $15.00.

A practical Coat in a three-quarter length is in a dark green zibeline. The model is made with a straight loose back and yokeover the shoulders extending to the front. The Coat also fastens well up to the neck in military effect, and has large patch pockets. A splendid garment at $15.00.

SMART FALL HATS TO SELL AT $7.50

We have never before shown such a splendid collection of moderately priced millinery, never such smart styles or worthy values. The woman who figures on spending $7.50 or even less for her Fall Hat will be well satisfied with this collection now presented here. Visit the Millinery Section to view our new showing. You will find exactly what you require at the price you wish to pay.

NEW FALL STYLES IN CORSETS AT $1.50 AND $1.75

These Corsets embody all the features of much higher-priced models; they are correct in style, beautifully finished and designed along the highest lines that assure comfort. The new models are of higher-grade, and we are sure will readily appeal to every woman who seeks genuine quality at reasonable cost. Note the few lines that we make special mention of here.

SPECIAL AT $1.50—Specially good Corset of figured batiste, having a very low bust and a long double skirt. The model is supplied with four hose supporters and is nicely trimmed. Sizes 19 to 20.

AT $1.75—An almost boneless Corset with small rubber gore in bust, which is very low; comes with six hose supporters, in sizes 19 to 28.

SPECIAL VALUES IN HOSIERY

Fibre Silk Hose, 50¢ a Pair

The line is a familiar one with a great many of our patrons. This announcement of a new shipment will be welcomed. There are 35 dozen of these Hose, which are in black, seamless style with lisle top and fibre silk boot and sole. The Hose is well protected at wearing parts and has all the appearance of a much higher-priced stocking. The value is remarkable at 50¢ a pair.

A REGULAR $2.50 SILK HOSE FOR $1.65 A PAIR

This is a pure silk Stocking throughout—one that possesses splendid quality and has a fine appearance. We have just 20 pairs to dispose of to-day, and for this reason we would urge early consideration of those who desire to purchase. The Stocking is made with a double sole and garter top, and is extra spliced at heels and toes. The value is decidedly unusual.

wired to stand up, and the fronds curling about it to take away the stiffness. The type of gown widely shown and aptly called the "daquerrotype" style has a quaint, irresistible charm. The skirt is full and has bias bands that go round and round the figure. With this is shown a coat of velvet, which curves in at the waist and flares at the hips, and buttons straight down the front with bullet-shaped buttons.

Another striking dress of this same variety was worn by an unusually fine-looking elderly woman. The bodice was a short basque, having points at the front of the waist, and the skirt was made with a very full tunic of black lace, having a wide band of velvet at the edge, above that a narrower band, and above that a still narrower one.

The New Short Pleated Skirt With a Blouse Having the Russian Closing.

Beneath this tunic was a very narrow satin underskirt which scarcely came to her ankles.

In millinery black velvet predominates. Small hats with a touch of gold or silver are very smart, especially if there is a military air about them. While in August New Yorkers put on velvet hats, which were very small and afforded no shade to the eyes, with fall and winter approaching, the larger saliors with soft, crowns are coming rapidly to the fore. A novelty for these larger hats is to have them cut in scallops, square or round, and ribbon bound.

Naturally military and naval effects will be strong and are evidenced in a fashionable admiral's hat. The headgear of the British, German, Russian, Austrian and French soldiers have all been copied more or less by the wide-awake designers of hats.

Fur hats are appearing for winter wear. These are made entirely of one or two furs, or fur is combined with velvet in striking effects.

Monkey fur is being used a great deal for edgings and as trimmings for hats, in much the same way that fringe might be used. Narrow bands of fur make a very effective trimming for velvet hats.

Fur, combined with gold and silver flowers, makes an artistic trimming. Small velvet roses with marabou edgings are smart and will be worn, also, in corsage bouquets.

Pheasant tails in black, bronze, gold and silver are used for the fashionable high trimming for hats.

One morning, after the razor-strop had been more than usually busy, Sammy's mother went out into the field to look for her much-stropped child. To her intense astonishment she found him fondling a huge goat for which he usually professed a deep hatred. "Why, Sammy, darling, it is nice to see you being so kind to poor Billy! Why are you being so kind to poor Billy to-day?" Over Sammy's face came a look of unspeakable gratitude as he gave the wondering goat another carrot. "He butted father into the pond this morning!" murmured the dear little chap, patting his four-footed friend affectionately.

MEETINGS

Will Meet Next Week.—The quarterly meeting of the Western Co-operative society will be held at 1424 Government street on Wednesday, October 14, at 8 p.m. All interested in co-operation are invited.

Meet on Monday.—Premier L. O. L. 1610 will meet in the Orange hall, Yates street, on Monday, October 12, at 8 p.m. The treasurer's quarterly report will be considered and important business will be transacted.

Lecture or Resurrection.—A special lecture will be given to-morrow evening at 7.30 in Pantages theatre on "The Resurrection of the Dead." The address is under the auspices of the International Bible Students' association.

Sunday Lecture.—Dr. T. W. Butler will speak at the Progressive Thought temple, Pandora avenue, on Sunday at 8 p.m., on "What Are We Here For?" The address will be the second in the series on "The Origin and Destiny of Man." Admission is free.

Thanksgiving Services.—Special thanksgiving services will be held at Emmanuel church on Sunday morning and evening. In the evening there will be special appropriate anthems by the choir, and the pastor, Rev. W. Stevenson, will preach on "The Most Popular Sin in the World."

Will Hold Sale.—The members of St. Michael's Ladies' guild are arranging for a sale of work to be held on December 12. Fancy and useful articles are being made by the members. The proceeds will go toward helping to pay off the heavy debt on the vicarage.

St. Andrew's Auxiliary.—The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary at St. Andrew's society will be held on Monday, October 12, at the A. O. F. hall. After the business a dance will be held, commencing at 9 o'clock, this part of the proceedings to be in the big hall. All those attending will be made welcome.

Address on Tennyson.—The Young Peoples' society of the First Baptist church will hold its weekly meeting next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be an address on Tennyson, illustrated by songs and recitations from the great poet's works. All young people are invited to be present.

Thanksgiving Entertainment.—A Thanksgiving entertainment will be given in the school room of the Metropolitan church under the auspices of the Epworth league. A programme of tableaux has been arranged, including "The First Thanksgiving," "Tenting to-night," "Britannia," and "The Allies." A silver offering will be taken.

Centennial Thanksgiving.—Special thanksgiving services will be held at Centennial Methodist church to-morrow, when the pastor, Rev. Thomas Green, M. A., B. D., will preach both morning and evening. The subject at the morning service will be "The Necessaries to the Thanksgiving Spirit." In the evening at 7.30 he will preach on "The Nation's Reasons for Thankfulness."

Harvest Services.—Harvest Thanksgiving services will be held in the Douglas street Baptist church to-morrow, at the usual hours. The sermon will be appropriate to the occasion and special music will be rendered at both services. The church will be decorated. On Monday evening a church and congregational reunion will be held, for which there is an interesting programme.

Island Arts and Crafts.—A general meeting of the Island Arts and Crafts club will be held at the Alexandra club at 8 p. m. on Wednesday, October 14, when Dr. Hasell will read a paper entitled "War and Art." Sketches for last month, "Sunlight or Harvest," are to be shown at the meeting. Members are reminded that any objects of art are welcome for inspection at any general meeting.

Thanksgiving Service.—There will be a special thanksgiving and praise service in the First Baptist church, Dominion theatre, on Sunday evening. The choir will sing special anthems, and Prof. J. T. Haywood will give an organ recital from 7 to 7.30. J. G. Brown and Mrs. Bewart O. Brown will be the soloists, and the pastor, Rev. J. B. Winkler, will take as his subject: "Does God Answer Prayer? Will He Answer the Prayers of the German or the Briton?"

Christian Endeavor Rally.—The quarterly rally of the Victoria Christian Endeavor Union will be held on Monday evening, October 19 in the Centennial Methodist church, Gorge road. The meeting will be addressed by the Rev. Dr. Pidgeon, of Vancouver, who is a very fluent and forcible speaker; there Metropolitan Brotherhood.—To-morrow afternoon the Metropolitan Church Brotherhood will hold its weekly meeting at 2.45 in the auditorium of the church. The subject will be "Collective ownership of land." G. Oliver will speak and a discussion will follow. The chair will be occupied by H. S. Pringle. A cordial invitation is tendered to all men.

Series of Lectures.—Mr. Middleton, president of the British Israel association in Victoria, will give two or more addresses on "Retributive Wars," following British-Israel lines of study. The lectures will be held in the Congregational church building, Quadra street, commencing next Tuesday at 8 p. m., and continuing each Tuesday following until further notice is given.

The discourses will deal only with Bible statements and will suggest the historical parallels in which such statements received their fulfillment from Abraham's day to the present time. A hearty welcome is extended to all. Names of those wishing to attend the entire series should be handed in to the secretary.

Native Sons.—Post No. 1, Native Sons of British Columbia, with which is affiliated the Pioneer Society of British Columbia, will hold its annual reunion on Tuesday evening, October 13, in the Knights of Pythias hall, North Park street. Invitations are being sent to many old-timers to join the meeting, and the secretary requests that those who have been inadvertently omitted accept this intimation, as it is hoped that all old-timers and pioneers in the district will meet for the occasion to exchange reminiscences and hear the address to be given by E. O. S. Schofield, provincial archivist, on "From California to Cariboo in the Days of Gold." The secretary would be pleased to hear from members the names of any old pioneers to whom invitations should be sent, and, if notified in time, R. Hayward, 734 Broughton street, will send a conveyance for those who are unable to venture out owing to the season.

Shipping News from Day to Day

HOPE TO HAVE ALLAN SHIPS BACK SHORTLY

Admiralty Expected to Release Some of Boats Soon; to Resume Service

"We hope to have some of our ships which were taken over by the admiralty back in service very shortly. Most of our boats were only taken for one month and while the British government may keep some of them for a longer period, we expect that several of them will be released upon the announcement of which we will arrange westbound sailing dates from Liverpool and later arrange eastbound sailings from Montreal."

This was the statement of J. W. Thomas, of Winnipeg, assistant general northwestern agent of the Allan Steamship line who is in town to-day on a business trip. Mr. Thomas says that the admiralty requisitioned fourteen of the nineteen passenger ships which fly the houseflag of the Allan line.

The two largest of the company's fleets, are understood to be acting as auxiliary cruisers and they will probably be kept in service until the war has been decided. The other ships were used to transport the Canadian contingent during December some of the Allan ships will again be requisitioned, but the company entertains high hopes of having the ships on their regular schedules to handle the Christmas trade.

Deplores Destruction. Mr. Thomas made a tour of Europe early this year and was all over that section which is now being devastated by the war machines. He deplores the reckless manner in which the magnificent, ancient cathedrals and other buildings in France and Belgium are being brought to the ground by the German vandals.

"They may replace these ancient buildings with modern ones, but they will not carry the same interest. They will not have the attraction which age brings," said Mr. Thomas.

Lost art productions could never be replaced. When the old designers and painters had brought in some new designs or colors they had never let the secret out and the art had died with them. Countless art treasures of this sort had been wantonly destroyed by the guns of the Germans.

COLUMBIA TAKES LUMBER.

Vancouver, Oct. 10.—The American schooner Columbia, Captain Sprague, sailed last night for Sydney with 811,248 feet of lumber loaded at Hastings Mill. She towed from here to Port Townsend. The Columbia arrived here from Salaverry, Peru, on September 20.

TIDE TABLE.

Table with columns: Date, Time, High, Low, etc. for October.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th meridian west. It is counted from 9 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where banks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

SALVING OF GUNBOAT IS FINE PERFORMANCE

Rock on Which Princeton Rested Blasted Off and Cemented in Ship's Hull

Honolulu, Oct. 10.—Months of unremitting effort and unflagging patience have been rewarded finally by salvage of the American gunboat Princeton, which, while returning from a surveying expedition to her berth in Pago-pago harbor, American Samoa, ran full speed on an uncharted rock, with-in gunshot of shore. The news was brought here yesterday by Tutuila by the Oceanic Steamship company's liner Sonoma.

The American engineers had only the most primitive appliances, and their accomplishment is accounted in their profession as truly colossal. Divers first covered the gaping rents in the Princeton's hull with canvas, by keeping their pumps working at top force, they were then able to make headway enough against the water to place plank sheathings.

To top their achievement, they separated a pinnacle of rock, which had pierced the Princeton's bottom, from the ledge of which it was a part, cemented it fast in the wound it had jabbed, and left it sticking there like a shark's tooth, torn from the jawbone of the ledge.

SERVING ON H.M.S. HEARTY

Vancouver, Oct. 10.—Captain Cullington, port warden, received a letter from Captain A. H. Reed, R. N. R., yesterday, stating that Captain F. W. Evans, R. N. R., a member of the board of pilot commissioners and a former police commissioner, is serving as first lieutenant on H. M. S. Hearty. Captain Reed is gunnery lieutenant on the same ship. News that they were on board the Hearty had previously been published, but their particular duties were not known to their British Columbia friends until yesterday. The Hearty is doing duty in the North Sea.

TANKERS USING CANAL

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—For the first time since the opening of the Panama canal, a vessel carrying a full cargo of oil was dispatched from this port via the new waterway when the General Petroleum company's tanker Barneson, Capt. Shotton, steamed for Colon on Thursday morning.

After a voyage of twenty-one days from Talait, Chile, the big British freighter Milwaukee, Capt. W. H. Smith, has arrived here, having managed, by the caution of her officers, to escape the fate of the British steamers Elsinore and Bankfield at the hands of the German cruiser Leipzig.

SALVOR ATTEMPTING TO FLOAT THE SIOUX

Tugs Unable to Move Stranded Steamer From Sand Spit at Dungeness

To carry out salvage operations on the stranded steamer Sioux, the steamer Salvor, Capt. Stratford, left Esquimalt early this morning for Dungeness, which is located across the Strait of Juan de Fuca in United States territory. The Sioux piled up on the big sand-spit there several days ago and despite persistent attempts to float her she still held fast. Finally word was sent here for the Salvor to cross the Strait, and following the receipt of sanction from Uncle Sam the vessel cleared port.

At high tide the Sioux is high and dry. She is in an exposed position and the owners are anxious to get her afloat before a strong gale breaks over this section of the country. The tug Tye has been standing by the stranded ship, but although she has hauled hard on heavy hawsers she has been unable to dislodge the craft. It has been discovered that the Sioux is resting in what appears to be a bed of quicksand. Since she drove ashore her hull has settled considerably. A gang of men was sent to the scene of the stranding to dig a channel through the sand, but this evidently has proven too great a job and the Salvor has been sent for.

The Sioux belongs to the International Steamship company and paid one visit to Victoria. She operates on the run from Seattle to points on the other side of the Strait. It is expected that she will be floated in the course of a day or two, as the Salvor has a record for accomplishing difficult salvage feats in remarkably short periods of time.

FRANKMOUNT AT BALBOA WITH HER GRAIN CARGO

Tacoma Oct. 10.—News of the safe arrival of the British steamer Frankmount at Balboa on Wednesday will be received with a feeling of relief among the shippers, who have been anxious about the vessel since receiving reports of hostile cruisers off the Lower California coast.

The British steamer Frankmount loaded a cargo of wheat at this port for the United Kingdom. Shortly after her departure from the Sound came news of the sinking of the British steamer Bankfield and Elsinore off the west coast of South America, followed by reports that three or four German cruisers were hovering off the coast of Lower California.

With wheat needed by Great Britain, the sinking of the Frankmount, carrying nearly 8,000 tons, would be a serious loss to the United Kingdom, as well as to the owners of the vessel. The Frankmount left Seattle September 19 and was 17 days on the passage to the Pacific entrance of the Panama canal. She is the second vessel with wheat from Tacoma to use the new waterway, the steamer Daldorh being the first.

HALIBUT BAIT SCARCE

Seattle, Oct. 10.—Because herring which are used by halibut fishermen for bait are very scarce in Alaska waters, many schooners are having difficulty getting sufficient to continue on their cruises. Many schooners for this reason are reported tied up in the north.

Although six schooners arrived yesterday the total catch reported is only 175,000 pounds, as follows: Alaska, 10,000 pounds; Republic, 60,000 pounds; Panama, 10,000 pounds; Liberty, 70,000 pounds; Corona, 10,000 pounds; Constance, 15,000 pounds.

MANY FIRMS TENDER FOR ALBERT'S WORK

Bids Were Opened at Noon To-day; Cost of Repairs to Be About $70,000

At noon to-day tenders for the repairing of the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince Albert were opened, and it is expected that the underwriters will have some announcement to make on Monday as to whether the craft will be repaired or not. A number of firms are figuring on the job, and owing to the fact that none of the shipyards is very busy at the present time it is thought that the competition between the tenderers will be very keen.

Three San Francisco firms, two Seattle repairing plants, the Wallace Shipyard, of Vancouver, and the Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrow's, of Victoria, have submitted bids for the repairing of the Albert. The steamer is very badly damaged, and a conservative estimate of the amount of money which will have to be expended to place her in a seaworthy condition is placed at $70,000.

The repairing of the Prince Albert will be the largest job ever carried out on a coasting steamer in these parts, and will rank well up with the cost of repairs on the deep-sea ships which have come here to be made seaworthy after having been in accidents. The whole bottom of the Albert will have to be repaired, the plates and frames being bent and broken in numerous places. The stem was practically all carried away when the ship crashed on the northern reef and during the pounding which she received from the terrific seas while she remained hard and fast a tremendous dent was battered in the port quarter, the stern post and rudder were carried away, and the whole stern of the craft badly strained.

It will take about two months to put the Prince Albert in shape to resume service between here and Prince Rupert. There is a possibility, however, that, if the tenders for repairing the ship are high, she will not be fixed up.

KANSAS CITY WILL PLY OUT OF SOUND SHORTLY

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—The steamship Kansas City, of the Portland & San Francisco Steamship company, is soon to ply out of Puget Sound.

The vessel is now at the plant of the Union Iron Works undergoing a thorough overhauling and has been sold to Joshua Green and associates of Seattle. It will be several months before the vessel is ready to leave for Seattle and her new owners have not made public the exact nature of her new service in the north.

The Kansas City is a steel and iron steamer of 3,679 gross and 2,164 net tons register. She was built at the plant of the Delaware River Shipping company, Chester, Pa., for the Ocean Steamship company, of Savannah, in 1889. The Kansas City is 327 feet long, 45 feet beam and 18.8 feet depth of hold. The terms of the sale were not made public.

BRODMOUNT PASSES IN AT CAPE IN NEW TRADE

The Blue Star liner Brodmount, Capt. Martin, was reported passing in at Cape Flattery this morning en route from Chinese ports to Puget Sound. It was understood that she would be intercepted in the Strait and ordered to Victoria. She does not carry wireless and if she enters an American port she will lay herself open to a heavy fine for violating the new radiotelegraphic laws of that country. She passed up to the Sound this morning, but it is thought that she will be warned off Port Townsend.

The Brodmount is the first of the Blue Star fleet to come to this coast. She is inaugurating a new service and will proceed from North Pacific ports to the United Kingdom via the Panama canal.

WOMAN SUFFERED TEN YEARS

From Female Ills—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Belleville, N.S., Canada.—"I doctored for ten years for female troubles and did not get well. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I write now to tell you that I am cured. You can publish my letter as a testimonial."
—Mrs. SUVRINE BABINE, Belleville, Nova Scotia, Canada.

Another Woman Recovers.
Auburn, N. Y.—"I suffered from nervousness for ten years, and had such organic pains that sometimes I would lie in bed four days at a time, could not eat or sleep and did not want anyone to talk to me or bother me at all. Sometimes I would suffer for seven hours at a time. Different doctors did the best they could for me until four months ago I began giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and now I am in good health."
—Mrs. WILLIAM H. GILL, No. 15 Pleasant Street, Auburn, New York.

The above are only two of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which show clearly what great things Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does for those who suffer from woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Extract From "BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL" March 23, 1907.

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of cod liver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter easily takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

The BUTTER SCOTCH which Messrs. Callard & Bowser (Duke's Road, Euston Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, so palatable in fact, that children are more likely to need restraining from excess than any persuing to take it. This BUTTER SCOTCH is stated to contain 17 per cent. of fat and 73 per cent. of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made recently of a specimen substantially to confirm these figures. Further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended not only as a harmless sweetmeat, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases.

LUCILLE PALMER

Who will be seen in "Madame Sherry" at the Royal Victoria theatre next Monday afternoon and evening and Tuesday evening

AT THE THEATRES

"MADAME SHERRY" COMING.

For Thanksgiving week Manager Denham has secured for the Royal Victoria theatre Lawrence and Sandusky's two attractions, "Madame Sherry" and "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway." The former will be seen at the Royal Victoria at matinee and evening performances on Thanksgiving day (Monday) and on Tuesday evening. The latter will be put on twice on Wednesday, matinee and evening. Both have been seen here and are familiar to playgoers of this city. The tuneful adaptation of "Madame Sherry" which is to be presented is one which commends itself to all who hear it, and is full of enchanting melodies, not the least of which is the beautiful "Every Little Movement." Miss Lucille Palmer will again be seen here, where she has numerous friends, as the heroine, and she will also be seen as Mary, the New Rochelle housemaid in "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway." This is one of the funniest comedies that there is, and it has delighted audiences here who will be glad to renew their acquaintance with it. Howard Russell will be seen in his inimitable characterization of Kid Burns. Supporting these principals in these attractions Lawrence and Sandusky have assembled an excellent company. The Thanksgiving day performances will be at popular prices and there is to be a bargain matinee on Wednesday.

POLLARDS AT PANTAGES.

The return of Teddy McNamara, Queenie Williams and the rest of the Pollard Kiddies in a sketch said to be the best vehicle they have ever had, and a mechanical reproduction of the world's greatest maritime disaster, the sinking of the Titanic, are the features of the programme at the Pantages theatre next week. The cyclonic comedy of the two Pollard principals is well known and exceedingly popular in this city. Their new sketch, "The Guide to Monte Carlo," gives ample room for them to use their talents and affords opportunity also for Nellie McNamara to render a solo in her beautiful contralto voice.

The Titanic act is a real novelty full of spectacular interest. The ship is shown leaving Southampton harbor amidst all the life and animation of the big seaports excitement at the departure of the newest and largest ocean leviathan. The next scene shows the wonderful moonlight night on the Atlantic, the approach of the ship into the field of icebergs, the awful crash, the spluttering of the wireless, the flare of rockets, the lowering of the boats and lastly the final plunge of the great liner.
Saunders and Von Kuntz are a pair of mimics who have proved popular members of the bill, while the Rosdell Trio are vocalists of high accomplishment. The acrobats, Lockhart and Laddie, are veterans at the game.

"THE WHIP"

"The Whip," the great Drury Lane melodrama of old country sporting life, which ran for two years in London and for a season at the Manhattan Opera House, New York, will be seen at the Royal Victoria theatre, October 15 and 16. This is an event of great theatrical importance for never before has a production of such magnitude been sent on tour, five special cars being used to transport the scenery for the four acts and thirteen scenes across the continent. The company numbers one hundred and there are numerous horses and dogs, trained for the stage, which are utilized during the performance.
The spectacular nature of the play lends itself to some of the most remarkable stage effects ever attempted successfully. These include a scene at the Olympic horse show, an automobile accident, the great train wreck and the racing scene. These last two are triumphs of realism, as locomotives and trucks are used in the collision and live horses at the race-course. Nothing like either of them has ever been seen in this country.

This greatest of all dramatic spectacles makes a sensational appeal because of the heart interest underlying its story.

"FROM SIRE TO SON."

The old Scriptural passage which refers to "the sins of the fathers being visited upon the children," is in an indirect sense the keynote upon which has been built the story of "From Sire to Son," the play to be produced by the Allen Players at the Princess theatre next week. Though the piece is not in any way religious in its theme, the fact of a father's sins being visited upon his son brings about all the tragic and exciting incidents. The dramatic intensity of some of the scenes is delightfully relieved by some splendid comedy by three of the characters.
In the first act many typical characters of early California mining towns appear; miners rough clad and severe, ever ready to use the rope as a means of punishment; professional gamblers, adept in the use of cards or gun, and all the cosmopolitan element which usually finds its way into a town of mushroom growth where goods are often paid for in gold dust.
In the scene in the Grand Solen of a hotel in Venice, is to be seen the very opposite to the mining camp in groups of elegantly dressed members of the continental aristocracy. It is a play designed to please all, embodying as it does, excitement, laughter, scenic splendor and fine dressing.

Owing to Monday being a holiday, the usual weekly bargain night will be held on Tuesday.

FACE AND HANDS COVERED WITH SORES

Zam-Buk Worked Complete Cure

Mrs. P. Watson Drummond, of Theford Mines, Que., writes: "Every fall for three years, as soon as cold weather set in, my daughter's face and hands would be covered with rough watery patches, which before long would turn into nasty sores. These would itch and smart terribly, and she would suffer in this way from fall to spring. Nothing we could get did her any good until I started using Zam-Buk. This wonderful ointment quickly relieved the irritation. We persevered with Zam-Buk, and to our great delight it worked a complete cure. I have also used Zam-Buk for cuts and burns, and think there is nothing to compare with it."
For eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, or any skin disease or injury, Zam-Buk is unequalled. As soon as applied, it commences its work of healing, quickly alleviates the pain, and builds up new healthy tissue.

At all drugists and stores, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 50c per box. See the name on the box and refuse all substitutes.

When you bore people by showing them your new house, and some of the things they say: "I simply cannot get over how much room there is inside." "Do you know, I've always been crazy about a built-in sideboard?" "Am I noticing the wood-work?" Why, I can't see anything else—I mean, of course, it has such a sense of individuality." "My dear, these color schemes are simply wonderful. I can't imagine how you ever thought of them. But, then, you always did have such lovely taste." "What I like about it is that it is homelike." "I've always said I would have a view from the bathroom window." "But then, you can't think of everything."

"Have you any children?" demanded the landlord. "Yes," replied the would-be tenant, solemnly, "six—all in the cemetery." "Better than here," said the landlord, consolingly, and proceeded to execute the desired agreement. In due time the children returned from the cemetery, whither they had been sent to play.

ONTARIO'S PREMIER.

To the Editor:—The enclosed is a copy of letter sent to Colonel on the 5th inst. The editor, within his rights, refuses to publish same. The statements made in the article referred to were so erroneous that they call for a reply. The sum voted by the Conservative party in office was $5,000,000, not $600,000, ostensibly for road purposes. Being one who wishes to eschew all controversial matters during war, between political parties, I have simply stated facts.

WILLIAMS HUGH.

Editor of Colonist:—The information set forth in your leader, "Ontario's New Premier," in your issue of Oct. 2, is very misleading. The man entitled to the largest amount of credit under Conservative administration in boosting New Ontario is the Hon. Frank Cochrane, who became minister of lands, etc., after the Liberal office holders under the Hon. Geo. W. Ross, in 1906, were turned out. Mr. Cochrane not only worked early and late in his office clearing up long standing disputes left over by previous commissioners of crown lands, but he advertised Greater Ontario by taking all the members of the provincial house, through the district on two occasions, and large parties of representatives of Ontario and old country press, and the boards of trade of Toronto and the province paid the district a visit as the guest of Mr. Cochrane. You state, "Mr. Hearst brought the public to a realization of its (New Ontario) dormant resources." The Liberal administration, under the Hon. Geo. W. Ross, has the credit of sending survivors into the district and drawing public attention to its possibilities and opening same up for settlement. "To build up New Ontario" was a plank in the party platform, and in 1903, under the then minister of public works, Mr. Latchford, the Temiskaming and Northw. Ontario railroad became an accomplished fact. This colonization railroad while under construction was directly responsible for the discovery of the phenomenally rich deposits of silver at Cobalt; the district became world-famed long before the Hon. Mr. Hearst became a member of the local house. The Conservative party opposed the expenditure of money in building this railroad. The man to whom the largest credit is due for bringing "the public to a realization of Greater Ontario's dormant resources" is Mr. Thomas Southworth, formerly director of colonization for the province of Ontario.

at the Top of your Thanksgiving Grocery List

For the luscious, ruby-ripe and mellow-sweet Canadian apple, we should truly give thanks. Of all the harvest it is the most beautiful, the most healthful and nourishing fruit. Within its carmine-tinted skin is all the goodness and bounty of Mother Earth.

How many Canadians realize that there is no fruit in the world so luscious, so beautiful, so economical and so healthful? The Canadian Apple!—envied of all nations to such an extent that heretofore, until the war prevented their getting them, the wealthy foreigners have bid so high that the cream of our crop has gone to Europe! Which means that heretofore Canada—the home of the apple—has known only "seconds" and inferior imported fruit.

Put apples at the top of your grocery list. Keep a box always open. Serve them Thanksgiving and every day in at least one of the 209 delicious ways given in our

SCIENTIFIC PHILANTHROPY

BY W. J. DOWLER.

This is the new term applied to systematized benevolent agencies of the present day. There was a time, not so very long ago, when benevolent agencies were anything but scientific. Individual effort was spasmodic and unintelligent, in the sense that it was content with flipping a dollar or two here or there or giving an order for supplies or medical attendance to relieve present want or distress, without reference to providing a permanent remedy or to the circumstances out of which such a condition arose.

Collective effort lacked cohesion and unity, and a proper co-ordinative and co-operative system. Now all this is changed in communities where the modern system is applied.

Scientific philanthropy touches every strata of society and co-ordinates the whole. That is to say, it draws its supplies for relief from those who are able to provide them, from every available source to meet the necessities of those who are destitute or in want, or in need of such assistance as public or private philanthropy can supply.

It covers the entire field of philanthropic effort in any community, whether the work is institutional, or that undertaken by benevolent societies, or privately, by individuals. It declares war on poverty, want and misery wherever found, and on the causes which produce them. It views the entire community from two standpoints, one as to the conditions to be relieved, the other as to the means available to relieve them.

However great and multifarious may be the distress or need, it recognizes that in every community there is a vast body of men and women who are in a position and who are willing to lend a helping hand to remove it.

Be applied according to the most approved methods of management and distribution that modern organized philanthropy can supply. But it goes still deeper into the problem of social welfare and social betterment, in that it probes sympathetically, not critically, into the primary causes of distress, and out of the fragments which still remain, to construct a foundation capable of producing fruitful results and a better order of things.

The subjects for practical benevolence are everywhere the same. Among them are the unemployed, homeless men, the indigent poor, the sick who are indigent, or appreciably so, the tuberculosis subject, the home deserted by or robbed of the breadwinner, the widow and the orphan, the insane or mentally defective, the person afflicted with an incurable disease, the physically defective, the imberbe, the thriftless and gripless, those incapacitated from any cause from earning a living, the mother with children having to work away from home to support them, the children of dissolute parents, illegitimate children, the subjects of sudden calamity, and others which might be mentioned.

Here is should be premised that the benevolent work necessary to cover all such cases resolves itself naturally under the respective heads of "public" and "private" philanthropy. It is a maxim of modern philanthropy on this continent that state, provincial or municipal relief should be given in institutions only, and that outdoor relief, or relief to the poor and helpless in their homes, should be left to private charity. "This is partly because indoor, or institutional, relief is less open to fraudulent use but more because of the attitude toward public relief. They have a feeling that they have a right to it and fling themselves upon it without thought. The leading cities on this continent abolished it years ago, and the savings attached thereby has been enormous." This work has been assumed by organizations known as the "Associated" or "United Charities," and their work constitutes, together with similar work performed in the older countries the triumph of modern scientific philanthropy.

Before attempting any answer to the question, what are the principal features of the relief and social welfare work accomplished by these benevolent organizations, it would be well to review briefly a few of them.

The greatest lay benevolent organizations in the world is "The Charity Organization Society" of London, England. Its patrons is Her Majesty the Queen. The president is the Archbishop of Canterbury, and first vice-president H. R. H. the Princess Louise. It has not less than a thousand connections in all parts of the world, of which some three hundred are in the United States and Canada. It is a federation of thirty-seven metropolitan district committees and local councils, whose general principles of action are determined by a central council, upon which each district committee and local council is represented. The main object of the society is improvement in the conditions of the people. It investigates all applications, trains workers, spreads information calculated to promote its objects and renders assistance by a system as efficient as money and brains can make it.

The Liverpool council of voluntary aid is another institution worthy of special mention in connection with benevolent organizations in the Old Land. The lord mayor is president of the executive committee of eight members nominated by the council. The group committees of the executive are:

- Group 1. Medical charities.
- Group 2. Homes and other institutions of the aged and afflicted.
- Group 3. Relief in the homes of the poor.
- Group 4. Children's institutions and homes.
- Group 5. Reformatory agencies.
- Group 6. Social improvement and education, and besides there is a registration committee.

The council publishes a social workers handbook of 200 pages, which is an encyclopaedia on the subject of benevolent work there.

The Leeds charity organization is active and well organized and also maps out its field work in districts, following the model of the London society. It has abolished mendicancy in Leeds and has established in the university a diploma course in social organization and public service. It exercises censorship over all appeals for help, issues registration tickets, and proscribes giving to any institution "which does not furnish a yearly statement of accounts, audited by professional accountants, or by someone well known, and to be relied on." It uses a bank order form for subscriptions which is so unique that it is reproduced here:

New York is a centre of light upon the complex problems which are every day met with in organizing and conducting successful philanthropic work. The annual report of the Charity Organization Society for the city of New York is a volume of closely printed matter of 173 pages. Its work is also divided into districts and has under its care 6,767 families. It has its social service exchange, application, registration and investigation bureaus and bureau of advice and information and its conferences of social workers. Affiliated with it is the New York School of Philanthropy. There is also the Harriman Training School for Public Service, and last, but not least, the Russell Sage Foundation, with its multitude of agencies endowed for benevolent work. It is also the headquarters of the American Association of Societies for Organizing Charities, which makes a specialty of furnishing expert advice and assistance in the working out of practical problems in charitable work.

Then there is the Associated Charities of Boston which has its "Service Capacity for Confidential Exchange" as an aid in the solution of family problems and in community organizations, its department for homeless men, its children's agencies, medical agencies, relief agencies, religious agencies in connection with the Associated Charities.

Philadelphia's benevolent work is carried on by a committee on municipal charities consisting of the chairman, vice-chairman, treasurer, counsel, secretary and assistant secretary, an executive committee composed of leading business men and sub-committees of the insane, tuberculosis, hospitals, children, aged and infirm, delinquents, outdoor poor, imberbes, crippled children, finance, and public policy. There is also a department of public health and charities, which is a department of the municipal government of the city.

The 1913 year book of the United Charities of Chicago illustrates by a diagram the relation of the general to the district offices and how the latter use co-operative agencies. First, there is the general office in which is the administrative supervisor. Then comes the district offices and other departments, which skilled service and money help to the twelve districts of the city. In 1912 there were no less than 1,125 instances of co-operation, of which 186 were public agencies, state, county and city, and 939 were private agencies. The district offices and departments provide skilled personal service to help needy families back to self-support, giving at the same time the kind of relief that money buys—food, clothing, rent, etc., to further this end.

It tabulates the work which each district is expected to perform and points out the duties assigned to volunteers, which are no less than 67 in number. It deals with the problems peculiar to large cities and emphasizes the value of the social service registration bureau. It specializes, too, in work among neglected and dependent children.

Probably no cities of the United States have advanced further than Kansas City and Denver in the provisions they have made for relief and social betterment. Kansas City has a municipal farm, earning above all expenses $2,680.36 last year; a women's reformatory, earning by sewing and laundry work $5,000; a parole department, the men earning $280,489, and delinquent husbands paying $9,651.71 through the office for their families; a recreation department inspecting public dances, etc.; a legal aid bureau, for poor litigants handling 5,854 cases; a department for the homeless and unemployed, a social service department providing nine skilled charity workers to public and private agencies; a research bureau, with confidential exchange, investigation, and endorsement of charities of a private nature, and other features, such as promotion of 38 gardens on free vacant lots, a welfare loan agency, handling $74,958.75, and 1,200 open accounts, a school of social service, and a child welfare department.

The city commission of charities and corrections of Denver is a board appointed by the commissioner of social welfare, consisting of two medical men, two business men, and two ladies, to have charge of the city's charity and relief work and institutions, and to work in conjunction with the social welfare department of the city. The president is the city health commissioner. The card system is employed in connection with the confidential exchange, and all the associated charities of the city are members of the exchange. The outstanding features of the commission's work are the county poor farm of 340 acres, 17 miles from the city, equipped with buildings and machinery and stock, a staff of twenty-five, not including the superintendent, the municipal lodging house, the municipal coal and wood yard, the detention home and school, of which feature Denver may be regarded as the originator, and a very effective department of outdoor relief.

The cosmopolitan city of San Francisco has some unusual problems to deal with in connection with emigration and transient conditions, as the report of its associated charities testifies. It has given special attention to the children of widowed mothers, unable to care for them. It praises the self-denying work of physicians who have given their services to visit the sick in their homes in all parts of the city at the call of the associated charities.

Possibly Los Angeles has the most elaborate system of organization to cope with the philanthropic work of that city of any on the Pacific coast. It has during the past year made strenuous endeavors to place this work on a thoroughly organized and systematic basis by the creation of the municipal charities commission under state legislation and by ordinances of the city. The municipal charities commission is the central authority in municipal work, and consists of five commissioners, two of whom are women. Its powers are somewhat extensive. They relate to the investigation and endorsement of all charities dependent upon public appeal or general solicitation for support. They are required to attain a reasonable standard of efficiency and to be conducted so as to ensure to the public the wise use of funds before such endorsement will be given. The commission encourages the formation of new private charities to meet new needs, co-operation between all charitable and social agencies. It collects and preserves statistics relating to charities, disburses funds set apart by the city for charitable purposes, receives donations and administers trusts and has power to establish a free employment bureau. It controls absolutely all solicitation for charitable purposes, and no society can collect for such purposes without the permission of the commission. Since the work of the commission falls into two definite departments, namely:

- (a) The regulating and standardizing of the charities.
- (b) Maintenance of a free bureau of employment for the employable unemployed.

It employs the services of a second organization, which is also an incorporated body, known as the Council of Social Agency, which is to keep in touch directly of all types and activities of each individual charity in the work of the whole. This organization is composed of representatives from each social agency or associated charitable organization, the representation on the council from each being two delegates and four alternates. The constitution and work of this organization has been very thoroughly given and managed by the council as a whole. If one had any criticism to offer it would be that there is more organization than needed, but one could only have praise for the thorough and detailed manner in which every feature of the work is proposed to be reached and effectively dealt with.

Philanthropic work in Montreal is administered by the municipal assistance department, with headquarters at the city hall, presided over by the mayor as chairman of a board of five commissioners and a staff of seven. In 1913 the city paid for the relief of destitute persons a sum of $497,712.35, and dispensed to charitable institutions, hospitals, maternities, infant asylums, dispensaries, homes, asylums, orphanages and various other institutions the sum of $106,000. All grants to such institutions are paid on production of a certificate from the director of the municipal assistance department to the effect that they are of public utility, properly kept, and that such institutions admit, as far as possible, destitute persons sent them by the directors of the municipal assistance department, and that they render to the destitute person the services required from them by the department. They must also report their operations to the department each year on forms supplied by the city. The commission lays special stress on the matter of milk depots and subsidizes no less than 23 to the amount of $12,500, upon conditions similar to those of the institutions above referred to.

It maintains for young offenders a reformatory school, which cost the city last year over $20,000. It is erected at a cost of $180,000 what is known as the Meurling Municipal Refuge,

COWANS' SOLID CHOCOLATE MAPLE BUDS

For bites between meals there is nothing equal to Maple Buds—all the goodness of the Indies seems to be caught and prisoned in these pure, velvet-smooth bits of solid chocolate—and they're so wholesome and nourishing too.

benevolent societies into a system of mutual co-operation, such as the United Charities, which in most cases are supported entirely by voluntary contributions.

Regulation Bureau, Confidential Exchange and Clearing House.

3. The formation by the United Charities of an organization to investigate thoroughly the cases of all applicants for relief, not only for the purpose of preventing overlapping in actual material relief, but for the purpose of expediting the giving of information as to dependent, sick and delinquent families, and to keep records of all work done in the treatment of families, month by month, and years by year.

4. District organization.

5. A separate department for the unemployed.

6. The employment of expert service in organization and training.

7. Adequate basic legislation.

Generally speaking, the plan of work of the United Charities is to relieve actual need for food or clothing without red tape, then to know the family, then to make a plan that may assist in permanent rehabilitation to obtain the co-operation of relatives, employers, churches and other charitable societies, to obtain work for those who need it and are able, to train those who need to be made more efficient, to provide material relief while the plan is progressing, to remove, as far as possible, environmental conditions that produce misery, sickness and distress, to train workers who will at the call of the public at all times to minister to distress in proportion to the support accorded by the public, to institute a corps of visiting housekeepers skilled in the science of home-making, to regulate and economize family budgets, the best, simplest and cheapest way of teaching mothers and "little mothers" buying and preparing food, and the proper way to keep a healthful, clean and wholesome home, and to devise ways and means of how to most effectively employ volunteers in personal service. This, in brief, is the mission and work of organized scientific philanthropy.

FOR HEAT AND LIGHT BURN ROYALITE

ALL kerosene is not alike—there are many varying grades and qualities.

Royalite is the registered trade name of The Imperial Oil Company's pure, high grade, extra refined kerosene. When properly used it will not give any smoke or soot, and it is always absolutely uniform.

The Imperial Oil Company is the largest refiner in Canada. Because of its extensive manufacturing resources and its system of delivering direct from the refinery to the store or the consumer, it can offer Royalite at a price which, considering the quality, is remarkably low.

You can get Royalite everywhere—in villages as well as cities and towns. You can also get Rayo Lamps, and Perfection Heaters and Stoves, for which The Imperial Oil Company is general distributor.

Royalite Oil plus the Rayo Lamp means a big light for little money.

Royalite Oil plus Perfection Heaters and Stoves means most heat at lowest cost.

IN THE LODGE ROOM
I. O. O. F.

Meetings Next Week.

Tuesday.—Colfax Rebekah lodge, No. 1.

Wednesday.—Columbia lodge, No. 2.

Thursday.—Dominion lodge, No. 4.

Victoria Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O. F.

At a meeting of the above lodge on Monday evening last a communication was read from the grand master commending the plan of keeping the members of the order who have volunteered for service at the front in the present war in good standing on the books of the lodge, as being in accordance with the principals of the order. The grand master stated that the contingent fund of lodges could be legally used for this purpose and recommended that entertainments be held during the coming winter to strengthen this fund and at the same time to stimulate fresh interest in the order. The dependent families of those patriotic brothers who were fighting the battles of the empire.

An application for membership was presented and referred to a committee.

Next Monday being Thanksgiving Day, and therefore a statutory holiday, the meeting of the lodge on that evening will be dispensed with.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 1.

The regular meeting of this lodge will be held on Tuesday evening next. The degree of Rebekah will be conferred upon several candidates. Visiting members of this degree are cordially invited to attend.

Vancouver Encampment, No. 1.

The meeting of the lodge last Tuesday evening was the best in some time, and the degree team as a consequence presented the royal purple degree in a most satisfactory manner. The new floor work called forth considerable praise from those present, and Pat. F. B. Shaver, team captain, was delighted with the work of the team. At the conclusion of the lodge business, a white tournament took place, P. C. P. W. H. Cullin, being the winner of the prize. Refreshments were served during the evening, and the large number present showed their appreciation in a very practical manner. The proceedings came to a close at an early hour, and those present expressed themselves as having spent a very enjoyable and profitable evening.

Columbia Lodge, No. 2.

The entertainment committee of this lodge has announced that arrangements are being made to hold a social dance on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23. The members of the various branches of the order are being notified and requested to attend.

Dominion Lodge, No. 4.

There was a very short session of the lodge last Thursday evening, the lodge closing about 9 o'clock.

Canton Victoria, No. 2.

The canton held its regular meeting last night and disposed of much routine business.

DYSPEPSIA MADE MY LIFE MISERABLE

Did Not Think I Would Ever Be Able to Enjoy Another Meal, Until I Decided to Investigate Claims for "Fruit-a-tives"

W. F. ALLEN, ESQ.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 22nd, 1913.

"I feel that I would be doing 'Fruit-a-tives' a great injustice if I did not make known to you the wonderful results that I have obtained from its use. For the past eight years, I have been afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had given up all hopes of ever being able to enjoy another meal, when I chanced to see your advertisement in the papers, and as a last resort, I decided to investigate and see if all you claimed for 'Fruit-a-tives' was true. Now, after having used six boxes, I find that your claims for 'Fruit-a-tives' are well founded. I am now in perfect health and can enjoy my meals as I formerly did, and I cannot praise 'Fruit-a-tives' too strongly." WELLARD F. ALLEN.

Just as sure as day follows night, just so sure will 'Fruit-a-tives' cure every trace of indigestion and Dyspepsia. 'Fruit-a-tives' keeps the stomach sweet and clean. 'Fruit-a-tives' insures the digestive juices being fresh and plentiful by ridding the whole system of impurities. 'Fruit-a-tives' stimulates the stomach muscles, and insures every meal being promptly and completely digested.

If you have any Stomach Trouble, such as Belching Gas, Pain After Eating, Sour Stomach, "Heart Burn"—and especially if your Bowels are not regular, by all means take 'Fruit-a-tives'.

60c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by 'Fruit-a-tives' Limited, Ottawa.

The Resurrection of the Dead

20,000,000 soldiers under arms? Thirty Million heathens die annually. What is there beyond the grave? What say the Scriptures?

"He cried with a loud voice Lazarus, Come forth, and He that was dead came forth bound hand and foot with grave clothes."—John 11: 43-44.

The apostle Paul declares, "I would not have you to be ignorant brethren concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not even as others which have no hope."

Thus it is that the resurrection of the dead is the hope of the world. The hope of every human heart being that at some time and at some place we will again meet our loved ones. Those whom the hand of death has laid in the tomb, leaving only the memory of their presence, while from the weary hearts of the mourners ascends the cry, will we ever meet again.

Thus He who spake as never man spake replies, "Marvel not at this

FORTY YEARS AGO

By "S. L. H." in London News and Leader

When war was raging about forty-four years ago in the same region that is being desolated to-day war correspondents were allowed to follow their risky and honorable calling. As a result the pages of history were adorned by some brilliant contributions from the pen of Archibald Forbes, and I have been reading some of his graphic reports—the work of a man who understood war when he saw it, and who could describe what he had seen. Let me quote one or two specimens of these records, which derive a fresh interest to-day.

Many people, when talking about the 1870 campaign, seem to hold the view that the Germans had, from beginning to end, something of the nature of a "walk-over," but Forbes vividly describes a critical moment at Gravelotte that tells another tale. He says:

The French infantry, for once relieved from the defensive and restored to its traditional meter of the attack, dashed forward with the grand old elan, and swept the Germans backward down the slope almost into the Marne valley. . . . It may be said, without exaggeration, that for the moment the whole of that army was on the run. The old king was carried backward in the surging press, resisting vehemently the white, and exostulating with great fervor of expression. It was a spasm of awful crisis.

The German front, however, braced itself, and remained unbroken, and the "panic died as quickly as it had kindled."

But the old king remained under fire and in very real danger. His advisers were anxious, and yet no one liked to advise him to take more care of himself. Bismarck was there, but he had been severely snubbed for tendering such advice on an earlier occasion. Old Moltke gruffly said it was no affair of his, and so last night, an old personal comrade and friend of William, spoke simply remarking that the king was risking his life very freely. The old king looked hard at Moltke for a moment, and then with a smile turned his horse's head and rode off in the direction of Rezonville.

He did not go far, however, and making himself a seat on a ladder, one end resting on a weighing machine and the other on a dead horse, he sat, consumed with anxiety as to how the fight was going. As Forbes says "the strain of the crisis was sickening, as tidings were awaited." Bismarck was also sitting near making a display of assumed indifference and pretending to read letters. Night was beginning to fall when there came suddenly a great shout that knew in volume as it rolled nearer. The hoofs of galloping horses rattled on the causeway. A moment later Moltke, his face for once quivering with excitement, sprang from the saddle, and running toward the king cried out: "It is good for us, we have won the day, and the victory is with your majesty." The king sprang to his feet with a "God be thanked!" Bismarck with a great sigh of relief crushed his letters in the hollow of his hand and a simultaneous hurrah welcomed the glad tidings.

It must have been a near thing to have excited even the impassive Moltke. Then came a different scene immediately afterwards. With great difficulty a small room in a little public-house was found for the king, and two cots—these the only food that could be procured—were provided for his supper. And now for the adventures of Bismarck, Sheridan (the great American cavalry leader), and some other. Sheridan was an old campaigner, and had marked out a likely cottage. The ground-floor was wicket with the wounded, but Sheridan asked—How about upstairs? The old cove who owned the cottage vowed there was no "upstairs," and as Forbes says, though Sheridan "was too polite to call the old lady a liar," he asked to where did the staircase lead.

And he found out—for it led to an attic containing three beds. The enterprising American claimed the cleanest bed as the discoverer of the place. Bismarck and his cousin had to put up with the second best, while the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg and his aide-camp had to crawl into the third and the worst. Sheridan stood again for he was the only one who had any supper—a bit of black bread which had been given to him as a distinguished foreigner and guest by Prince Albert, the king's brother! Probably never before or since did that humble attic cover such a remarkable group of visitors.

Early the next morning the enterprising American was up, prowling about and prospecting for food, and after a time he returned with two eggs. His explanation was that he had coaxed an old woman to part with them, and he still looked sublimely innocent when Bismarck pointed to a stray feather on his coat-sleeve. It is to be feared that the gallant Sheridan had been engaged in looting. However, nothing more was said about it, as Sheridan allowed Bismarck to have one of the eggs.

Let us turn to another scene of a very different nature, in which Sheridan again played a part. The old king, surrounded by officers and advisers, is watching from the top of a hill the final incidents of the tragedy of Sedan. Forbes describes how the group watched the gradual circling movement that trapped the French. He says that the masses of German troops looked like the two claws of a gigantic crab, slowly, but without rest, coming nearer and nearer.

Not a word was spoken for a long time—each man had his eyes glued to his field-glasses. Then at length Sheridan, the American general, himself a cavalry leader of great experience, broke the strained silence by closing his glasses with a snap and exclaiming, "It is all over with the French now!" Men ran up to him to shake him by the hand for the word, for they knew it came from the lips of a past master in the art of war.

These records of more than forty years ago, as I have said, gaining additional interest to-day—and they also remind us of how the public have been indebted to the genius and courage of the war correspondent.

HOW THE NAVY IS BEING STRENGTHENED

Further Details of New Ships to be Added to North Sea Armada

Further details amplifying the coming sea strength of Britain are now available, says a dispatch from London. Under the names H. M. S. Erin and H. M. S. Agincourt, the two dreadnoughts being built for Turkey, the Keshishid and the Oshaul, which were taken over by the British admiralty, are now almost completed, the one at Barrow and the other at Elswick. The latter is, in fact, almost ready for sea.

The crews for both these vessels, which will carry 14 12-inch guns, have already been told off.

Enormous Superiority. Where Britain will have enormous superiority will be in battle cruisers. First and foremost comes the battle cruiser Tiger, now completing at Glasgow. Under the names H. M. S. Erin and H. M. S. Agincourt, the two dreadnoughts being built for Turkey, the Keshishid and the Oshaul, which were taken over by the British admiralty, are now almost completed, the one at Barrow and the other at Elswick. The latter is, in fact, almost ready for sea.

The others building at their respective yards are: Aurora, Chatham; Gatton, Glasgow; Inconstant, Glasgow; Pomorie, Barrow; Phaeton, Barrow; Royalist, Glasgow; Undaunted, Govan; Cordite, Birkenhead; Salliope, Chatham; Carysfort, Pembroke; Cleopatra, Devonport; Champion, Hebburn; Conquest, Chatham; Comus, Wallsend; Cordelia, Pembroke.

The one feature which makes these boats invaluable to the first battle squadron in the North Sea is that they are oil burning. This not only gives them the tremendous speed of 25 knots and enables the stockhold personnel to be very considerably reduced, but also enables them to remain continuously in the fighting line. All coal driven boats must leave for their base periodically for coal, beyond which it is a terribly exhausting process for the crew. With an oil driven ship all that is necessary is for an oil tanker to come alongside, screw on a hose and pump in the oil without disturbing a soul.

Destroyers have fourteen and a flotilla leader building. These are the Manly, Mansfield, Mackean, Mastiff, Matchless, Mentor, Meteor, Milne, Minotaur, Miranda, Moorsom, Morris, Murray and Mynde.

These are vessels of from 1,000 to 1,300 tons displacement, burn oil only, and will have a speed of 34 to 25 knots. Their armament is four 4-inch quick firing guns and four 2-inch torpedo tubes. The Nimrod, flotilla leader, is slightly larger.

That added to the details of the super dreadnoughts given on Saturday and the additional submarine strength now ordered is the coming sea strength of the empire building at this moment.

LOCAL PRICES WERE NOMINAL AT SESSION

Somewhat Broader Tendency in Oil List With Athabasca in Fair Demand

Price-making was nominal in character this morning. No new feature was seen and sentiment took on a non-aggressive but firm aspect.

Portland Canal and Coronation were both unchanged from yesterday. Both issues held the balance of interest.

A slightly broader tendency was marked in the oil roster and Athabasca was wanted in small quantities.

QUIET ACTION IN PIT IS DUE TO HOLIDAY

Trading Largely of Evening Up Character With Prices Up Fractionally

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The grain list was typically a price-holiday matter to-day, with general evening up of commitments.

The final quotations show a good half cent appreciation from the previous session. There was little to inspire activity in the way of news, although the evacuation of Antwerp was perhaps negatively bullish.

WILL HOLD MEETING

Committee of Trades and Labor Council Discusses Conditions: Donations to Fund.

When the general unemployment committee of the Trades and Labor council met at the Labor hall last evening, those present held a long discussion on the means to be adopted in overcoming what unemployment exists in and about the city.

On motion of John Day, it was unanimously decided that a mass meeting, to which all the unemployed in the city should be invited, should be held as soon as possible in one of the large halls or theatres of the city and that the premier and members of the government, the federal members and the mayor and the aldermen should be asked to attend and explain fully the various measures the government and the city are taking to meet the requirements of present conditions.

To arrange for the meeting and invite the speakers, the following committee was appointed: A. Watchman, president of the B. C. Federation of Labor; John Day, secretary treasurer of the Trades and Labor Council and Christian Sivertz.

The finance committee of the Victoria and District Unemployed League, which was started under the auspices of the Trades and Labor council, announced that the following subscriptions have been made to date: R. F. Green, M. P., $50; Carpenters' local, No. 2651, $25; Carpenters' local, No. 1848, $25; Musicians' local, $15; The Layers' local, $10; Bookbinders' local, $10; Sheet Metal Workers, $10; Tailors, $5; Stage Employees, $3.75. Total, $153.75.

Several parcels of clothing, etc., have also been given by the Quality Press, Hibben-Bone building.

The league states that as there are very many cases of distress among the workers of the city, further help is needed. Anyone who is desirous of assisting can do so by forwarding a contribution to Thomas F. Mathison, P. O. box 302.

SEND REINFORCEMENTS

Rome, Oct. 10.—German advices are that German reinforcements are being rushed to the Russian frontier, not only by train but by sea from Stettin, Strabund, Danzig and all other available Baltic ports.

WAS UNDER FIRE OF GERMANS NEAR ARRAS

Chronicle Correspondent Went With French Soldiers to See Battle

SAYS EXPERIENCE WILL ALWAYS BE REMEMBERED

Saw Engagement in Which Germans Were Forced to Change Positions

London, Oct. 10.—A correspondent of the Daily Chronicle sends the following dispatch from an unnamed town in France, under date of Wednesday: "Arras has been the pivot of a fierce battle, which, commencing Thursday, was still in progress when I was forced to leave the citadel three days later.

"In that period I was fortunate enough to penetrate into the firing line and the experiences are such as will never be dimmed in my memory. I saw the action open with the skirmishes at Vitry-en-Artois, and next morning one of the hardest battles which make a link in the chain right across France of the gigantic battles of rivers was being prosecuted before my eyes.

"I reached Arras on September 29. The Germans had occupied it a fortnight earlier. Now it was placid, sleepy and deserted, and bore no outward signs of having suffered from their occupation. I learned, however, that although they had refrained from demolishing buildings, there had been scenes of debauchery and private houses had been ransacked. It was declared that the only German paying for anything during the whole of the fortnight's occupation was a member of the Hohenzollern family, an important officer who had made the Hotel D'Unions his headquarters.

"I decided to pass on to Vitry-en-Artois, twelve miles distant, where I had heard the allies were enforced. Here I obtained a room in a hotel. "Within a short time I saw armed cars. There came many warriors in many cars fitted with mitrailleuses, cars advancing backwards, cars with two soldiers in the back of each with their rifles resting on the back cushions and their fingers on the triggers with the muzzles of the mitrailleuses pointing over their heads. Several scouts, too, were in the streets.

Death's Hussars Were Shot. "In the distance, beyond the bridge, behind a bend in the road there is a cluster of hoods. It stops. Again it goes on, and it stops for a couple of minutes and then quite distinctly can be heard the sound of a horseman proceeding at a walk. The cavalry scouts have vanished into big barns on each side of the road and around the corner of the bridge comes a small body of German cavalry. They have passed the spot where the French scouts are hidden and I have retreated to my bedroom window from where I can count twelve of the Death's Head riders. They are riding to their fate. Right slap up in front of the cars they come. A rifle shot rings out from where the French scouts are hidden, and that is a signal for the inferno to be loosed.

"Crack, crack, and mitrailleuses spit out a regular hail of death, vicious, clock-like, never ceasing cracks. Two horses are down and three horsemen lie prone in the road.

"The Germans have not fired a shot, all their energies being concentrated in wildly running their horses to get back again round the bend. It is too late. Another two are toppled over by the scouts in the barns, and then the cars start after them, still spitting out an unending hail of lead.

"It seems impossible that even a fly can live in such a stream of bullets, yet out of the dozen three got around the bend, and galloping madly make for the only spot where they can leave the road and get across country. The automobiles and men cannot follow them there. These fellows seemed perfectly satisfied with the success obtained without a scratch. Nine are dead.

Was Meeting of Outposts. "I imperfectly understood the real meaning of this scrap. I thought it was an encounter between stray forces. A talk with the driver of an armed car, however, enlarged my perspective. It was a meeting of the outposts of two great opposing armies, one of which was at Douai, and the other at Cambrai. The feelers of both forces were being extended to discover the various positions preparatory to a big battle. "Arras had changed completely by my return from Vitry. Its calmness was gone. The station entrance was clear. There were no trains running and the station was in charge of a strong picket of soldiers, while the road outside echoed to the tread of infantry.

"I stood still in amazement while my papers were being closely examined, and watched regiment after regiment complete, marching out on the road to Douai. This was part of the preparation for the big battle which I was told was to begin on the morrow.

"All day long the guns thundered and roared, and all day long I sat outside the cafe of the Hotel des Voyageurs. They started to boom about 8 o'clock in the morning, being in position at six o'clock of artillery, calibre, about five kilometres outside Arras to the south.

down beside me and gave 'Good day,' evidently curious as to my nationality. I invited them to join me in coffee and cognac, and during the ensuing conversation we became very friendly, and I was given to understand that one of them was a volunteer driver of an armored automobile, who had just come off duty.

Taken to Witness Battle. "I remarked that it would be very interesting to get a sight of what was going on behind the station.

"Would Monsieur like to walk a little way?" "But surely the pickets will not let me pass beyond the barrier," said I. "Come with me," my friend of the automobile invited.

"Shortly after passing the barrier, at which we encountered little resistance, my companion caught hold of my arm and we both jumped up the bank at the side of the road to let a long string of artillery drivers trot past on their way back for more ammunition. Another cloud of dust coming up behind us was a fresh lot of shells on their way out to the firing line.

"Overhead appeared a ball of yellow, greenish smoke, which grew bigger and then came the sound of a gun about three seconds afterwards. A shell had burst in the air about 300 yards away. Others came all about the same place. They appeared to come from the direction of Bapaume.

"Bad, very bad," commented my companion. And so it appeared to me, for the Germans were dropping their shells from the southeast, at least one kilometre over range. We were standing behind a straw stack and looking due south, watching the last discernible line of French guns, when we heard the whistling screech of an approaching shell. Down we went on our faces behind the stack, and over to the left, not 200 yards away, rose a huge column of black smoke and earth, and just afterwards a very loud boom reverberated. A big German gun had come into action slightly nearer this time.

"Just behind a wood I could plainly see the smoke of the gun rising above the trees. Two more shells from the big gun exploded within 20 yards of each other and then, with disconcerting suddenness a French battery came into action within a hundred yards of our straw stack. They had evidently been there for some time.

"My ears are still tingling and buzzing from the sound. One after another the guns of this battery bombarded the position of the German guns, which replied with a shell every three minutes.

German Guns Silenced. "Presently we had the satisfaction of hearing a violent explosion in the wood and a column of smoke and flame rose up to a great height. The German guns had been put out of action. From the French positions came infantry, at this point thousands of little dots, presenting a front of about two miles, advancing in skirmishing order. Every now and then the sharp crack of rifle fire could be heard.

"The French had advanced over a mile, and the Germans had hastily evacuated the wood. Other French batteries now came into action and the German fire was becoming decidedly fainter and less frequent.

"Wounded began to arrive, which showed that, for the present at least, it was safe to go out to the trenches to collect them.

CAPTURE OF YAP IS OFFICIALLY DOUBTED

Japanese Embassy at Washington Has No Information on Subject.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The Japanese embassy in Washington is without confirmation of the capture of the German island of Yap by a Japanese naval force, and doubts that Japanese activities in the war have extended that far south in the Pacific.

According to statements made by members of the embassy, Japan is only extending her activities outside of the attack on Kiau Chau for enough to protect Japanese and British commerce in the Pacific and the capture of the principal islands in the Marshall group was a military measure.

The impression prevails here that the report sent from Tokio several days ago of the capture of Yap by a Japanese naval force was a delayed form of a rumor in Washington on August 26 last. The report then circulated was that the news of the capture of Yap by a Japanese force was brought to Cebu, in the Philippines, by the North German Lloyd steamer Princess Alice. Investigation at that time brought to light that the bureau of insular affairs of the war department has received a dispatch from Manila saying that the captain of the Princess Alice, which arrived on August 23 and then went to Cebu, had reported that the German wireless and cable stations at Yap had been captured by a British warship.

"The Japanese declaration of war dated August 23, which was after Yap was reported as captured.

BERLIN ISSUES REPORT ON FALL OF ANTWERP

London, Oct. 10.—An official Berlin dispatch via Marconi wireless confirms the report that Antwerp has been occupied.

The official announcement of the fall of Antwerp, given out at German headquarters late last night and transmitted here via Marconi wireless says: "This forenoon, several forts of the inner line of the fortifications of Antwerp have fallen. The town since midday has been in our possession.

"The commander and the garrison evacuated the fortifications. Only a few forts are still occupied by the enemy and this is without influence on our position in Antwerp."

CONSUL AND FAMILY FLED FROM ANTWERP

American Heard Bombardment and Exploding Shells While in Cellar

London, Oct. 10.—The Chronicle's Ghent correspondent wires that Henry W. Diedrich, United States consul at Antwerp, escaped with his family from the city Thursday by motor car.

In an interview Mr. Diedrich described his experiences during the bombardment. He said: "For days we heard the sound of heavy guns, and were told of the fall, one after another of the outer forts. It soon became apparent that nothing could avail against the German cannon and, in conjunction with other neutrals, I endeavored to mediate with the Germans to spare, at any rate, some of the most valuable buildings of world-wide interest, but the negotiations failed to lead to a successful result.

"I had intended to remain in Antwerp throughout the bombardment, which we saw was inevitable, but I was told to clear out of the city as its destruction was inevitable, but I did not realize until almost too late the horror which was coming.

"At 11 o'clock at night we were going to bed when we were startled by frightful noises in the air, reminding us of the previous visits of the Zeppelins. Soon we realized that the bombardment had commenced, and then I had the most horrible experience of my whole life. I went with my family to the basement, and we crouched there all night, shells falling every few minutes. They came with a dreadful, whistling sound followed by a thunder-clap and the collapse of some building.

"With my wife, daughter, two servants and a refugee child I got my chauffeur and my car and we crossed the pontoon bridge over the Scheldt. I

Carry Your Patriotism Into Your Buying!

For ten years we have been talking practical patriotism—urging Canadians to buy the Canadian-made Gillette Safety Razor in preference to cheap German makeshifts.

The war has clinched our arguments.

So confident are we of the future of the only safety razor made throughout in Canada, that we are bringing out within a few weeks a New Model the

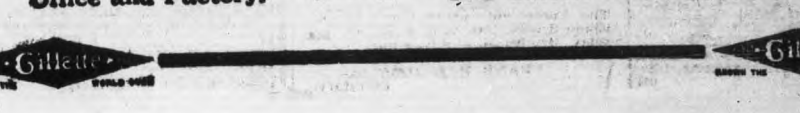

It's British to the hilt, and looks the part. The price stands at $5.00—no increase over the Standard Gillette Set. Watch for the Gillette "Bulldog" ["what we have we'll hold"] in the shop windows—you'll like it.

The war has not checked Gillette progress. Our factory is running full time, with complete staff. Thus we are doing our part toward maintaining Canada's prosperity. Do yours by buying, in preference, goods

MANY MADE GIFTS AT HOSPITAL EVENT

Linen "Shower" at Jubilee Hospital Yesterday; Interesting Programme Given

The annual linen "shower" of the Royal Jubilee hospital, held yesterday afternoon, drew together hundreds of the friends of the institution and supplied the hospital with a very welcome store of sheets, towels, napkins, and other useful gifts of linen. The event, unlike previous years, took place in the hospital itself and not in the nursing home, and the long corridors expressed unwonted excitement as the afternoon progressed and more and more visitors arrived.

Miss Mackenzie, the new superintendent who has made so many friends in the city during her brief residence here, received the visitors, and the convener of the "shower" committee, Mrs. Otto Weiler, undertook the more onerous duties attendant on receiving and noting the gifts as they arrived. Assisting her were Mrs. Hartman, convener of the entertainment committee, and Mesdames Doull, Andrew Wright, and Drury. The tables were already burdened with parcels sent in by those who were unable to bring their gifts in person, and the contributions which arrived during the afternoon with the guests still further supplemented the growing piles of welcome packages. A bowl placed on the table near the entrance was also well filled, before the close of the day, with dollar bills, which are among the class of ever practical gifts at such times. As usual most of the visitors took the opportunity to go over the hospital and visit the various wards, and very general were the congratulatory comments passed in view of the many improvements introduced during the year, particularly in connection with the tubercular ward. This department has been wonderfully converted under Miss Mackenzie's direction, and now possesses a small kitchen for the preparation of simple dishes, has its own linen cupboards, bookcases, and some

WOULD LEAVE CENTRE OF ROAD UNTOUCHED

Gorge Road Owners Wait on Streets Committee of Council; Price of Cement

A brief session sufficed to complete the business of the streets committee of the city council yesterday afternoon. A delegation attended to speak of the desirability of postponing the paving of Gorge road from Carroll street to Harriett road. The members advocated laying over the matter till spring. F. J. Norris supported the proposal that laterals and other service mains be installed this winter, and the centre of the roadway be left untouched till the spring. People on that road had found the thoroughfare disturbed during several winters past. There was a great deal of traffic at this time of year which would be seriously inconvenienced if the roadway were torn up. Other speakers joined in the request that the paving be left over till the spring. The city engineer observed that it was necessary under present conditions to disturb the centre of the street. He believed the work should proceed. Commence late in other years, sections of the same road had been paved without undue inconvenience. Alderman Dilworth held that the work should be proceeded with, as the whole section should to the city limits be paved. Owners had often pressed for this course to be adopted in the past. The committee promised that the deputation's request would receive attention. The Associated Cement Products, Ltd., advised the council that, in view of the unemployment calls on the council, the company was willing to reduce the cost of barrels of cement, the mayor and Alderman McNeill having explained the situation to the management here. The reduction will be 35 cents a barrel, but the decrease in price is not to apply to cement in sacks. A communication from the Inner Harbor Association dealing with the waterfront application of James Leigh & Sons, mill owners, will receive the individual attention of aldermen. The application affects the creek, Selkirk water. As part of the widening and improvement of Pandora avenue, the city engineer made a proposal that the sidewalk on the south side of the avenue from Douglas street to Quadra street be widened. After some discussion the aldermen decided to call for an opinion from officials as to the cost of the proposed improvement and the best method of proceeding with it.

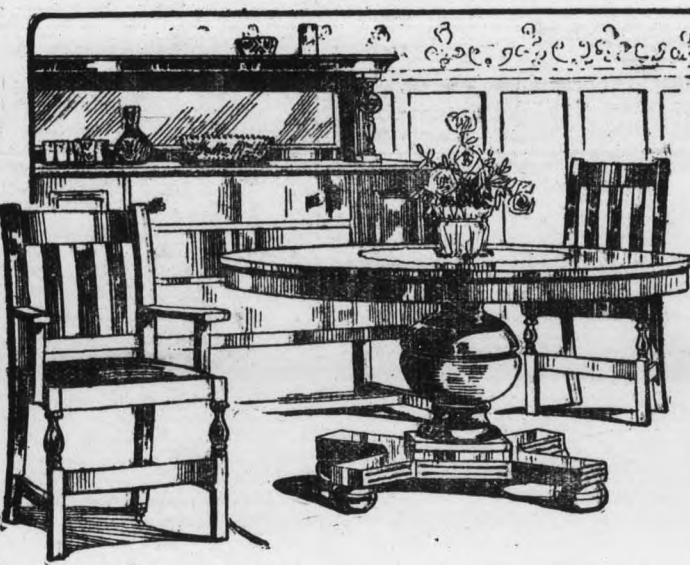

Y. W. C. A. DIRECTORS MEET. Plans for Bazaar to be Held November 11 Discussed; Activities of Various Departments Reported.

At the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. board of directors held yesterday afternoon Mrs. Scates, vice-president, in the chair, a quantity of routine business was disposed of. The general secretary reported that eighty members of the association were taking advantage of the proffered use of the Y. M. C. A. swimming tank, where sessions are held twice weekly by the Y. W. C. A. The dress-making and millinery classes were all well-attended also, and the third class in millinery was just commencing. The badminton court had just been put in good condition, Mr. Pendray having kindly given the necessary paint, and the court was now ready for use. Other departments of the association were busy. The dining-room was used by about 80 people daily, and during the past month a change had been made in installing women cooks. The Travelers' Aid continued to do good work in providing assistance to girls and women arriving in the city without friends. The employment department had found 26 places for applicants during the month, 88 having applied for positions. During the month 44 new members joined the association. A considerable amount of discussion was devoted to the subject of the sale of work to be held on November 11, and donations of fancy or plain sewing for the work table were asked, as well as home-cooking and candies.

Old Cyrus Hilbery had commenced to wear in consequence of the prolonged stay his nephew was making at the old homestead. The youth had resisted successfully all gentle hints that his visit had been of unusually long duration, and, wishing to make the point stronger, his uncle said one morning: "I'm afraid, Norman, you'll never come to see me again." "Why, uncle, how can you say so? Don't I come to see you every summer?" queried the youth. "Yes, but I'm afraid you'll never go away."

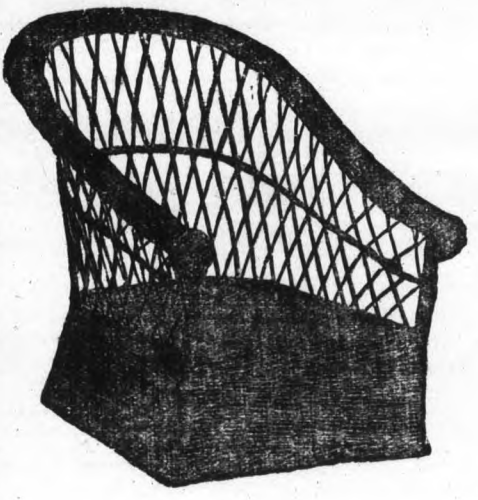

Worn-out by a long series of appalling French exercises, wherein the blunders were as the sands of the sea, a hapless high school mistress declared her intention of writing to Florence's mother. Florence looked her teacher in the face. "Ma will be awfully angry," quoth Florence. "I am afraid she will, but it is my duty to write to her Florence." "I don't know," said Florence, doubtfully. "You see, mother always does my French for me." The teacher is wondering whether she will
